ROOSEVELT MAY HOLD UP COURT SELECTION

President To Delay Filling Court Vacancy

Expects That Additional Resignations Occur Before Long, Is Report

COULD THEN NAME SENATOR ROBINSON

Another Appointee Would Likely Be Younger Brain-Truster Representative

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 26.—President Roosevelt may not fill the impending Van Devanter vacancy on the supreme court until another expected retirement gives him the opportunity of making two appointments at the same time, it was rumored today on Capital Hill.

The unconfirmed report indicated the president desired to name Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic leader of the senate, to one of the vacancies and a young New Deal brain-truster to the other. This course of action, it was explained, would satisfy both the brain-trust faction, who urge appointment of a young man, and the congressional demand for Robinson's elevation to the supreme court.

Other Retirements Rumored

The pending retirement of associate justices Brandeis and Sutherland has long been rumored. A close friend of one of the justices declared both planned to retire soon as congress ends its battling over the president's judicial bill.

The rumor gathered some strength due to the fact there is no pressing need for the president to fill the Van Devanter vacancy now. The court will go into summer recess next week. The president could postpone filling the Van Devanter vacancy until the fall term.

Congressional friends of Robinson hope the president will name him next week, as soon as the retirement of Justice Van Devanter takes effect. They believe prompt appoint-

Stadium Crowd Of 4,500 Views Schools' Pageant; Over 700 In Performance

Before an applaudng host estimated at 4,500, Miss Janet Hartland, one of Senior high school's most popular girls, was crowned Queen of the May last night in regal pomp that marked the colorful School Coronation pageant in which over 700 Senior and Junior high school students participated at Taggart stadium.

The evening's weather was grand for the outdoor festival staged as a benefit for various school bands here. Today it was too early for leaders to determine the definite financial success of the show, but their hopes were running high.

Colorful Program

Climaxing weeks of rehearsal in the Senior high and George Washington and Ben Franklin Junior highs and the junior high division of Mahoning school, the celebration brought the stately coronation of the queen, a lively exhibition track meet, band concerts, mass drills by girls of Senior high and Ben Franklin, and a fireworks display, and kept the stadium massed with spectators until the very end of the two-hour show.

A loudspeaking system carried the words of the master-of-ceremonies, General Chairman Richard E.

Relief Bill Showdown Is Due On Thursday

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 26.—President Roosevelt may have to intervene to halt the House revolt over the "blank check" provisions of the $1,500,000,000 relief bill, administration leaders said today.

The final showdown on the measure, riddled by earmarking amendments, is scheduled for tomorrow.

Representative Rayburn of Texas, Democratic leader, served notice that roll calls will be demanded on every earmarking amendment designed to limit the discretionary power of President Roosevelt and Works Progress Administrator Harry L. Hopkins in handling WPA and other relief funds. This will put Democrats and Republicans on record either for or against the administration, under the plan devised to stem the revolt.

"In my opinion the bill will not

BILBAO, Spain, May 26.—A famous French commercial pilot, M. Galli, and five passengers, including one woman, were injured today when Rebel fighting aircraft shot down a big British-made French air liner.

Loyalist Spanish advices said the Insurgent planes were German-manufactured Heinkels.

The French craft came to earth at Sopelana, a small coastal town nine miles north of Bilbao. Galli was taken to a hospital.

The plane belonged to the Air-Pyrennes, operating a service between Bayonne, France, and Bilbao.

Election Code Is Passed By Senate

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, May 26.—Pennsylvania today was about to get its first codification of election laws in a century.

Approved by the senate yesterday, the administration election code was ready for house concurrence in amendments, then to be sent to the governor.

The code places a ban on "ghost" parties, modernizes the laws and makes them conform with federal statutes, sets fees for candidates, and requires the filing of a ticket 20 days before the election. The senate removed a provision requiring bonds for parties and candidates.

Changes Proposed In State Liquor Laws Ready For Final Action

MORE POWER WOULD BE GIVEN GOVERNOR

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, May 26.—The administration's liquor laws, granting the state liquor control board and Gov. George H. Earle the vast powers originally demanded, were ready for final Senate approval today, then rushed to the House.

Bowing to heavy administration pressure, the Senate state boards committee redrafted the emasculated measures and inserted one amendment which would grant Governor Earle the power to fire "for cause" any liquor control board employe, the present civil service set-up notwithstanding.

Other Changes

Other changes would:

1. Completely outlaw sale of beer in packages up to 72 ounces in grocery stores; permit tap rooms to sell up to six bottles, and beer distributors as few as six bottles in packages.

The bodies of Leonard Fleming, negro driver of the truck, and his unidentified helper, were virtually cremated.

Earle Is Told About Lobbying

Republican Representative Says Earle's Own Cabinet Members Are Lobbyists

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, May 26.—Gov. George H. Earle's charges that lobbyists were threatening his legislative program found an answer from the Republican minority today.

Rep. David R. Perry, R., Blair, replied to the governor's special message to the legislature with charges that the Earle administration was using cabinet members as lobbyists. He said:

"The governor has implied a direct insult to the honest and intelligence of many members of this body. The only redeeming feature of his speech was the statement it would be his last appearance before this body unless an emergency arose. To that statement, and in the words of our chaplain, I say, 'God save the commonwealth from such an emergency'.

His excellency deplored the work of lobbyists in the legislative chambers. Among the most active lobbyists infesting this house has been Mr. 'Davy' Lawrence, as he passed from side to side, even passing back of the speakers desk, jotting down, apparently, the names of the unfaithful; Mr. 'Jaik' Kelly, and Secretary of Labor and Industry Ralph M. Conference Delegates Leave Cincinnati To Wage Energetic Fight

(International News Service)

CINCINNATI, O., May 26.—Buoyed up by President William Green's prediction of an increased membership to combat John L. Lewis' CIO, delegates to the American Federation of Labor conference scattered to their homes today, leaving it to the executive council whether to attempt a direct invasion of CIO territory.

Green's comments carried a broad intimation that if necessary he would go to the mat with the committee for industrial organization in a drive to organize A. F. of L. unions in the mass production industries.

Before adjournment the conference approved by almost unamious vote the four-point program to carry forward its organization campaign.

The program calls for:

1. Doubling the individual dues of one cent per member.
2. Disassociation of CIO locals from state and city central bodies of the A. F. of L.
3. An immediate, aggressive membership campaign.
4. Affiliation of all "loyal" unions with state and city central organizations.

Green, in an impassioned address to the conference, declared that the A. F. of L., could no longer delay accepting appeals from workers in mass production industries "for admission to the American Federation of Labor.

Almost simultaneously, the senate passed and sent to the house for concurrence the administration's 44-hour week bill, another "must" item in Gov. George H. Earle's labor program.

Introduced by Senators Edward E. Frey, D., Allegheny, and Edward J. Thompson, D., Centre, the minimum wage bill would empower the secretary of labor and industry to name nine-member wage boards for any occupation in which the invest-

Dr. Hugo Eckener Asks Helium Gas For Other Nations

Tells Senate Trans-Atlantic Service Is Doomed Without Helium Gas

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 26.—A plea for the use of America's non-inflammable helium gas for further development of Germany's huge dirigibles was voiced before the senate today by Dr. Hugo Eckener, designer of the ill-fated Hindenburg.

Eckener advocated before a senate military affairs sub-committee legislation which would release this nation's virtual monopoly of the treasured gas to Germany and other foreign nations for commercial use.

The foremost engineer of dirigibles and guiding genius behind their development warned that the future of lighter-than-air craft is doomed unless helium is made available to the German-American companies seeking to establish trans-Atlantic service.

Poor Board Plan Is Trouble Spot

Governor's Proposal To Scrap System Is Meeting Opposition

POLICE MERGER ALSO OPPOSED

By FREDERICK N. POLANGIN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, May 26.—Gov. George H. Earle's proposal to scrap the commonwealth's two-century-old poor board system today proved a cancer on the Democratic "mandate" program.

While other major legislation moved swiftly toward final enactment, an undercover movement by a block of insurgent Democratic representatives tied the program up into knots. It was designed to save the scalps of the state's 375 poor boards, doomed to be scuttled under the governor's plan to consolidate the administration of relief and public assistance.

Police Merger Doubtful

Whether the movement would be successful was to be known today when the House welfare committee acts on the measures to carry out the proposed "experimental" program, already passed in the Senate.

Democratic chieftains began feeling their full strength as the 132nd legislature entered its closing hours, and expressed confidence they had sufficient support of those still on the party reservation to beat down any revolt which may arise.

The General Assembly again met until dawn this morning, rushing final action on the governor's program. Save for relief and, possibly, the proposal to merge the state police and highway patrol, Earle administration leaders appeared to have complete control of the legislature's destinies. The merger bill remained in committee.

PITTSBURGH, May 26.—A strike in the far-flung plants of three of the nation's largest independent steel companies, employing approximately 100,000 workers, appeared imminent today.

All along the line, wherever plants of the Republic Steel Corp., Youngstown Sheet & Tube, and Innland Steel were located, the word went out today to CIO leaders, "get ready to strike!"

Strike At Canton

CIO workers at the Canton, O., and Massillon, O., plants of Republic Steel struck last night without instructions from national leaders. More than 11,000 men were made idle. Picketing was started and two instances of violence reported.

In one case automobile windows were smashed by stones and in another a Massillon plant worker complained to police he was attacked as he left the plant.

A spokesman for the strikers termed the walkout a "spontaneous rebelling against discrimination against SWOC men" and predicted all Republic plants would be down today.

Mayor James Seccombe of Canton rushed five police squad cars to the scene to maintain order.

C. I. O. Wins Sharon Steel

In the wake of another 2 to 1 victory in a Wagner Act election held at the Sharon Steel Co., a small independent with plants at Sharon, Pa., and Lowellville, O., leaders of the steel workers organizing committee converged on Youngstown, O., for a "war council" today, preparatory to calling their men out on strike. At Canton, O., where four subsidiary plants of Republic Steel are located, union workers were reported already on strike and picketing the plants.

Make Provision For June Relief

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, May 26.—A stopgap appropriation bill to allot $4,800,000 for care of the state's needy during the month of June, should the legislature fail to adjourn sine die by May 28, was passed finally in the house early today and sent to the senate for concurrence.

Speedy action on the measure, introduced by Democratic floor leader Herbert Cohen, York, was seen by observers as an indication administration leaders considered the possibility of adjournment by the end of the week somewhat remote.

High School Boys Die When Powder Explosion Takes Place

SCOTTDALE, Pa., May 26.—Over 200 shattered windows within a four mile area of here today told the mute story of a blasting powder explosion which blew three high school boys, aged 15 and 16, to bits, wrecked three buildings, and rocked the surrounding area.

The three, identified as Wilbur Seachrist, 16, Boyd Long, 16, both Scottdale high school students, and Howard Stull, 15, of nearby Huntingdon township, were believed by police to have been using a building, situated about two miles from here, in which powder was stored as a shooting target. Parts of a 22-calibre rifle were found near one of the bodies.

The blast, which occurred late yesterday afternoon, shattered at least 200 windows in Scottdale and wrecked windows in the village of Regentown, four miles from the explosion. An invalid woman seated at a window 400 feet away was cut about the face, arms and shoulders by a shower of glass.

STADIUM CROWD OF 4,500 VIEWS SCHOOL PAGEANT

Rentz, over the field and those who sat in the most distant seats enjoyed it as did those who sat up front.

The beautiful green grass carpet of the playing field became a spacious stage for the evening. Back and forth over it the performers moved, and the costume and uniform colors formed a handsome sight against the green, for the spectators who watched from the high stadium.

While the crowd was gathering at the field early in the evening, Miss Hartland, escorted by her attendants, was riding as honor guests in open cars in a parade procession to the stadium. The parade, headed by the Senior high band, started at the Legion home downtown at 6:45 and proceeded through the business section and to the East Side stadium.

Open Program

The Senior high band and members of its 50-voice chorus were the first to march onto the field. It was still before the starting hour of 7:30 and the band and chorus, under Prof. Joseph F. Replogle's direction, entertained in a concert until that time.

Meanwhile, the hundreds of other musical and gymnastic performers were getting ready.

The sun was setting back of the hills and the heavens presented a gorgeous hue as the program formally opened.

The Senior high band played once more and then the queen, in a stately procession from the Franklin side of the stadium, entered to assume her exalted place on a throne at the northern end of the field.

Beautiful ladies-in-waiting, all senior class girls; the marshal of the day, the heralds, the coronation officer and others, including 12 little flower girls and three little train bearers, walked with Queen Janet and took their appointed places about the throne for the evening.

The throng applauded heartily as the queen took her place of honor on the throne.

Coronation Occurs

Quickly, but with dignity, the actual coronation began. The coronation officer, Miss Ruth Shannon, in an impressive ceremony, presented to the queen a beautiful queen's cup and then, in the hushed atmosphere that surrounds all coronations, rested the lovely floral crown upon Miss Hartland's head.

At that instant the crowd again saluted the queen in heavy applause.

Then the band struck up a martial air and the program pilot, Mr. Rentz, announced the next events.

They were the exhibition track meets of the track stars of Senior high and Franklin and Washington and the Mahoning junior high division. Relay races, broad jumps, high jumps, tumbling shows and other events featured the track show. Phil H. Bridenbaugh and William L. Klee handled the Senior high team; Emmett Gillaspie coached the Franklin boys; Daniel A. Carroll coached the Washington performers and Austin Cowmeadow directed the Mahoning boys' performance.

The Croton band played during the evening, along with the Franklin band. W. A. Hoffmaster led the former and J. E. Paton the latter.

Attractive Drills

After the track show came the attractive drill work of 388 Ben Franklin girls and 260 Senior high girls.

The Ben Franklin performers, in blue and white, furnished a beautiful spectacle as they executed their drills and marches under the leadership of their director, Miss Margaret Fischer. Miss Sarah McGoun led the Senior high host in its exhibitions, some of the finest this city has ever seen. The two groups drew heavy applause.

By this time it was almost the grand finale hour and Chairman Rentz announced that the mass drills of the girls would close the program. The two large groups then moved together and in a final performance demonstrated their skill in marching and flag drill exhibitions.

A display of fireworks then went up from the western end of the field and signaled the queen's departure.

While the Senior high band played and the fireworks boomed, the queen's party left the field.

Then the big show was over.

In Queen's Party

Members of the queen's party included Elizabeth Boughter, Mary C. McLaughlin, June Travers and Miriam Clinefelter, pretty senior girls, as ladies-in-waiting; June Wilson as marshal of the day; Helen Langland, Evelyn Lockard and Charlotte Snyder, heralds; Ruth Shannon, coronation officer; Leah Davis, Crown bearer; Margaret Jennings, cup bearer, and the following:

Flower girls: Lillian Smock, Norma Mae Pillifant, Annetta De Vivo, Charlene Boyle, Betty Jane Nelson, Bobette Irene Moore, Joyce Agnew, Dorothy Jean Kersey, Dora Mae McGuire, Mary Jane Parker and Phyllis Jean Turner.

Train bearers: Bruce Brown, Burr Rogers, and George Morrow.

Faculty members of Senior high, who served at the ticket gates last night, reported to Alfred H. Owens, treasurer of the celebration sponsors, that $100.75 was taken in at the doors. The advance ticket sale was heavy and will be learned later.

General Chairman Rentz, who planned and guided the program with the help of school and townspeople, co-operating with the volunteers Citizens Music council, today thanked all who in any way contributed to the affair's success.

"It was grand entertainment the performers gave, and the type of a show this city appreciates. Everyone who participated in the bands and drills and track events is to be thanked. They made it the success it was."

Alec Samuels, president of the sponsoring organization, was present to assist Mr. Rentz and his aides during the evening. School representatives were present and helped to manage events.

STEEL EMPLOYES OF INDEPENDENTS MAY START STRIKE

at the plants of Inland Steel, largest independent steel producer in that area, was expected momentarily today following refusal of the company to sign a union contract.

With an epoch-making contract signed with Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp., one fo the nation's largest steel producers, giving the CIO sole bargaining rights for all the company's 27,000 employes and a signed contract with Crucible Steel, another large independent, spurring them on, CIO steel leaders today prepared to put the "finishing touch" on their less than a year-old whirlwind campaign to unionize the giant steel empire.

Vote Is 1773 To 721

A 1773 to 721 vote in favor of the CIO steel union was chalked up in yesterday's Wagner Act election at Sharon Steel, the first test of CIO strength in the Mahoning valley, where many of the independent steel plants are located. The election, supervised by the government, was similar to that held Thursday at the Jones and Laughlin plants at Pittsburgh, which also resulted in a victory for the CIO.

Stays Strike To Come

Chicago, May 26.—Van A. Bittner, regional director of the steel workers' organizing committee, said today a strike of 13,000 workers of the Inland Steel Company in the Calumet area would be called after company officials rejected demands of the C. I. O. union for a written contract granting collective bargaining powers.

Mass meetings will be held tonight in Indiana Harbor and Chicago heights for the purpose of polling the Inland workers on the contemplated strike call, Bittner announced, declaring:

"We are going to call a strike."

Company officials indicated they were prepared to close down the two plants indefinitely in the event of a strike. Special police were hired to guard the plants. Bedding and food was sent into the mills to provide for employes remaining on the property.

Clarence B. Randall, vice president of Inland, said the company had agreed to recognize the S. W. O. C. as bargaining agent but refused to discriminate against non-union members. His statement said a five-day 40-hour week with pay "as good as those of its competitors in this district," will be continued.

concentrates is illustrated by the fact 5,000 chickens were used to prepare 300 kilograms of chicken powder.

At the camp the flyers were to join Prof. Schmidt and other members of the expedition. It was believed possible Molokov will lead the planes in search of a better landing ground.

Permanent Air Base

Nicolai Yanzon, acting chief of the Soviet Arctic administration, denied reports the North Pole adventure would be abandoned He said:

"It is most absurd to say we are abandoning the attempt to establish a permanent air base at the North Pole. We are not going to keep planes at the pole, but will concentrate them at Rudolf Island and other points.

"Nevertheless, we will always have a landing place, fuel and radio facilities at the pole for planes. We may have to change the base occasionally because of drifting ice floes, but the base will always be there.

"Meanwhile, four comrades will remain at the polar camp a year to study currents, floe changes and weather conditions, as explained."

BRIDE AND BRIDE-ELECT ARE FETED

Lincoln-Garfield teachers honored two of their number, Mrs. Eugene J. Kennedy (the former Ruth Woodworth whose marriage took place in the early spring), and Miss Sylvia Lee Martin, who will become Mrs. Louis D. Hazen in June, when they gave a lovely dinner party Tuesday evening.

The affair was held at the home of their principal, James M. Hughes and Mrs. Hughes, on the old Pittsburgh road. By 6 o'clock a congenial crowd which had left behind them the daily school cares, had assembled. Seated at long tables outdoors on the spacious lawn, an elegant menu was enjoyed by the group numbering around 35.

Special guests included Ruth Krohn, Nancy McConahy, Gaynell Weller, Sergeant and Mrs. James Gardner and Doris McCabe.

After dinner, Mrs. Kennedy and Miss Martin were presented with two beautiful and useful gifts conveying hearty good wishes for happiness. The balance of the evening was spent singing songs.

Committees functioning last night were headed by Genevieve Houston, chairman, and included: menu, June Book, Belle Montgomery, Mary Laughlin, and Stella McVay.

Entertainment, Elizabeth Richardson, Grace McCabe, Lillian Savolaine; table, May Book, Helen Meyer, Helen Clark; transportation, Ruth Black, Ruth Kennedy; tidying up, Mary Wilson, Margaret Sankey, Hanna Walker, Grace McFarland.

True Followers Class.

Miss Loretta Amon invited the True Followers class of the Calvary Presbyterian church to her home on the Ellwood City road Tuesday evening.

An entertainment, including vocal duets by the Misses Eva Beckert, Elizabeth Miller, Martha Houck, Loretta Amon and Shirley Dean, with the hostess doing the piano accompaniments, was presented after a short business session. Devotions were led by Miss Houck.

Games were also enjoyed and prizes were won by Misses Houck and Dean.

Next month the class will meet with the Misses Eva and Mary Beckert, old Pittsburgh road.

Attend Dinner-Bridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bridenbaugh of this city were guests at a charmingly appointed dinner in Beaver Falls, recently, the dinner marking the 15th anniversary of the Fortnightly club. Mrs. Bridenbaugh is a former member of the club.

MISS JUNE CAMPBELL WEDS HOWARD W. BLY

A quiet and most impressive wedding ceremony took place this morning, when Miss June L. Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonared A. Campbell, 106 South Crawford avenue, became the bride of Howard W. Bly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Bly, Karns City, Pa., at the home of the bride's parents.

The single ring service was used, with Dr. C. B. Wingerd, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, officiating. The vows were exchanged at 9:30 o'clock in the presence of the immediate families of the couple, and one special guest, Miss Frances Thompson of New Wilmington, an intimate friend of the bride.

For her wedding, the bride wore a street length poudre' blue crepe dress, with a shoulder bouquet of pink roses and valley lilies, with accessories carried out in white.

The couple was unattended.

A wedding breakfast supplemented the ceremony, served at a table prettily appointed in a theme of yellow and white. While a tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom was prominently placed in the dining room.

This afternoon, the couple departed on a trip to Canada. For traveling, the bride chose a Navy chiffon redingote dress, with white accompaniments. Upon their return, they will reside at the Campbell home on South Crawford avenue for the present.

The bride was graduated from the New Castle High school in the year of '34 and has been associated in the office of her fathers store, here since that time. The groom was graduated from Fairview Township High, at Karns City, and, received his diploma from Slippery Rock State Teachers College in '34. He is a teacher in a school near Karns City, where they will eventually take up permanent residence.

This summer, Mr. Bly will study for a degree at Slippery Rock State Teachers College.

Honored At Shower.

Mr. and Mrs. John Nastal of Bryson road entertained a gathering of guests in their home on a recent date to honor their daughter, Miss Wanda Nastal, a bride-elect. The occasion was in the form of a shower, and she received a collection of many pretty gifts.

The hours were spent leisurely with various forms of pastimes, with 40 participating. Lunch was a later pleasure, served by the hostess.

Miss Nastal will become the bride of Joseph Buczek on May 29.

ANNUAL PICNIC FOR CURRENT EVENTS CLASS

Tuesday evening's weather was ideal for an outdoor picnic and Current Events class made a good choice in the date for their annual dinner which was held at 6:30, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wylie Brewster, on the Mt. Jackson road.

After an elegant meal had been served, the committee in charge last night presented a short playlet which was very entertaining. Those participating were: Mrs. M. L. Ailey, Mrs. J. Ed. Duff, Mrs. H. E. Bleakley, Mrs. E. A. Fenton, Mrs. John Butz, Mrs. John Emery, Miss Mollie Davis, Miss Mary Alice White.

Meetings of the class will be resumed again in the fall.

MUSIC CLUB CONCERT PLEASES BIG CROWD

On Tuesday evening a large audience filled the Sunday school auditorium of Highland U. P. church to hear the final program of the season, the annual spring choral concert.

Under the able direction of Albert A. Taylor, the chorus pleased their listeners greatly with varied groups of male, women's and mixed choruses. Tonally, the chorus was well-blended, and sang with great regard for nuance and interpretation. Especially pleasing were the "Go Down, Moses" for male chorus, 'Spinning Chorus" for the women's voices and "Vesper Bells" and "Bird Songs At Eventide" by the full chorus. Kathryn Nessle Allen was accompanist.

Assisting artists, Florio Boutri, violinist, and Louise W. Weber, pianist, justified by their excellent work, the high recommendations with which they came. They are from Beaver, Pa., and showed that the neighboring city of the valley will be heard from in the musical world.

Both shone to equal advantage in the intriguing new work of Charles W. Cadman, the sonata for violin and piano in G. Mr. Boutri's tone was exquisite, his technical command and interpretaion masterly.

Mrs. Weber showed an entirely sympathetic ability as accompanist, and the solo proportions of the piano score found her playing quite equal to its demands. On a second appearance, Mr. Boutri played works by modern composers.

Al in all, a program which, designed for the real music-lover, seemed to delight all those who were present. Chorus memebrs are:

Sopranos—Mrs. Benjamin Agnew, Mrs. June Bernard, Mrs. William J. Caldwell, Miss Estella Haug, Miss Elsie McGeorge, Miss Lillian Sarver, Miss Ruth Weir, Mrs. Eugene J. Kennedy, Mrs. W. L. Rainey.

Altos—Mrs. Howard S. Hammond, Miss Allurah Leslie, Mrs. J. Etta Mathias, Mrs. Clifford Propst, Mrs. R. M. Wilson, Mrs. Karl Wright.

Tenors—Elmer Kanagy, William McCombs, Fred Smith, Martin Wilson.

Basses—Thomas C. Davis, Russell Hagerty, Sam McCleary, Fred C. Scheppele, Walter Wallace.

Mrs. E. F. Henderson was hostess for the occasion and ushers were Mrs. C. F. Flannery and Mrs. Ernest W. Greiner.

RUSSIA CAMPS AT THE POLE

ALL nations can properly be impressed with the scientific enterprise which the Soviet Government has displayed in setting up a weather-observing camp practically at the North Pole itself.

The idea of landing an airplane on the huge, shifting ice floe which is the Pole—there is no earth there to use nor, for that matter, for any nation to claim—is essentially modern, while the plans for an icy landing "field" for other planes and a year's study there by scientists recall the Antarctic bases of Ellsworth and Byrd.

Admiral Robert Edwin Peary reached the purely technical North Pole in 1909. Others such as Admiral Byrd, Floyd Bennett, Roald Amundsen, Lincoln Ellsworth and Sir Hubert Wilkins have flown near or over it. The airplane has, within the past quarter-century, made polar expeditions fruitful.

Russia's new weather station is expected to provide necessary meteorological data for determining the feasibility and the potentialities of this trans-polar air route. All air-minded nations can benefit from the weather reports, whatever the ultimate aviation developments there. And so long as Russia limits her polar interest to commercial advancement, and makes no unsupportable territorial claims as a result of this ice-floe encampment, there is a possibility of scientific advancement. Such concepts as "possession" of the North Pole are hardly tenable.

There is laid upon Russia, naturally, the responsibility of keeping clear at all times that trade and good-will and science are paramount—and that militaristic objectives in the Pacific or elsewhere have no part in the polar enterprise.

NEW WORRY FOR HIGHBROWS

Dr. Frederick Tilney spoke with scientific restraint, of course, leaving amusing surmises to those more humorously inclined, but the picture of the future man which he left with a New York research society audience had that man bulging out fearsomely at the forehead. The human brain has been expanding throughout the ages the Columbia neurologist explained. What more logical than that homo sapiens, a few thousand years hence, will have a dome-like cranium with a super-expanded frontal lobe and, presumably, enough real gray matter to fill it? There are plenty of swelled-headed folks yet to come.

It was not news when the speaker reminded that "only a relatively small fraction of the human brain is at present utilized to the most effective advantage." Experience as well as anatomy attests this. So, presumably, man must first give the rear half of his present cerebellic equipment a thorough workout before it will need to grow at all.

Thus there is hope for those persons who prefer small-size hats, also bald men who want no greater glistening expanse. But woe betide specialists who develop ponderous frontal lobes and never use the rest. The term "top-heavy" will then take on added meaning.

ROCKEFELLER'S 97 YEARS

In the public mind there has been a disposition to associate John D. Rockefeller with infinity. The years have passed swiftly, bringing wars and depressions, prosperity, tragedies that shook the nation and changes that altered the map of the world. But still this aged but ageless man continued the quiet tenor of his way until he looked back upon nearly a century of life and upon struggles and events that had established his own status as a Croesus, with those vast powers for good or for evil that are inherent in the possession of great wealth. The death of this man at ninety-seven years comes as none the less of a shock to the nation because of the circumstance that he had so long lived on intimate terms with death.

An appraisal of the career of John D. Rockefeller necessitates its division into two distinct phases—those earlier years of ambition and acquisitiveness and of ruthless instincts devoted to the accumulation of his fortune, and those more pleasant years when, with the weight of age beginning to rest heavily upon him, he assumed a benign character and devoted himself to those generous and discriminate philanthropies by which he will best be remembered.

As a boy of sixteen, with little in the way of formal education, but with many of the elements of genius at his command, Rockefeller started to make his way in life at a time when the country was rich in opportunities for those with the wit and the spirit to take advantage of them. He had both and swept forward swiftly. The ruins of the Civil War smoldered. The West was still to be won and the country in general was ready for the hands of those equipped to make the best of the situation.

There were many such—Vanderbilt and Astor, Gould, Hill, Carnegie, Harriman, Rockefeller and others.

Mr. Rockefeller undertook to make his fortune in oil and succeeded in making about a billion dollars.

One of the controlling business principles of his career was that a man should gain as much money as he could honestly and should distribute it generously and discriminately.

Mr. Rockefeller was truly a philanthropist. In many respects he did more for the welfare of humanity than any man of his time. The cause of religion, of education, the arts and the sciences were encouraged and sustained by his generous benefactions. The benefits of his deep and practical interest in the relief of human suffering, however, will be experienced throughout the world even after his name has been forgotten.

Scientists of the Rockefeller Foundation and the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research have conquered pestilence and plague and brought relief to stricken human beings in every corner of the world. Child welfare and the social sciences have been advanced through his financial support. A half billion dollars of his money, it is estimated, has been expended for the betterment of mankind.

A fair judgment upon his century of life is that he did much good in the world in which he lived.

A boy doesn't reach manhood at 21, but at any age when he stops saying gimme.

Why invent conveniences? Nobody is unhappy for want of them until they are offered for sale.

Yes, some political argument seems silly, but what of it? A worm looks silly, too, but it catches fish.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

TOTS SPEAK PIECES

About 15,000,000 children in the United States are enrolled in Sunday school. On any Sunday morning about 9,000,000 children under 18 years of age attend. Reliable figures are not, of course, available. But the number of children who attend Sunday school or mass is much larger than most persons realize. I have often wondered why news writers so generally ignore this huge group. The percentage of attendance by those enrolled in Sunday school is far lower than for day school, the latter being 85 per cent for the nation. For Sunday school, it is probably 60 per cent or less. Of course, the Sunday school does not have a truant officer; its teachers are less skillful than those of day school; neither do most parents consider Sunday school so important as day school. It is just Sunday school!

Most Sunday schools have what they call Children's Day, and many children are now being prepared for it, when a special program is put on by the children and adults attend. Also there may be a special program by the children at Christmas or Easter. In these programs in the name of religion, some of the most outrageous things occur. Often little tots who can scarcely talk are set to recite "a piece". Scarcely has the young performer finished when the adults, most of them parents—one might expect them to know better—will laugh aloud. And if the little child should forget, as often happens, these adults will laugh uproariously at the little sufferer. How the child is frightened! How is soul is crushed! Suppose you or I were in his place.

Child Is Confused

And what must his confusion be when the words he supposed were reverent are treated by grown-ups as if he were uttering them in a vaudeville show or circus? This boorish attitude of parents toward children is more than I can understand. It certainly reveals low standards of adult conduct, low levels of religious attitudes, not to mention everyday good manners.

I can hardly think of anything more un-Christian than these pagan practices in the Christian church—presuming to follow the teachings of Jesus who said of little children, "Of such is the kingdom of heaven," and whose life and teachings constantly exalted the sacredness of human personality.

Anyway, it is almost never good for a young child to perform alone in public. Let there be group performance and dramatic team-work among children at public functions, and lots of pageantry in which all the children can participate.

LETTING DOWN THE IRON CURTAIN

Women do it more cleverly than any man can. I've seen them do it and have been filled with admiration.

Suppose a young lady is talking to a young man. She is having a wonderful time. She is turning on the personality and charming him with her moods and pretenses and gay understanding. Along comes another girl, just as pretty, just as dangerous—and what does that girl do?

If she can, she pulls down the Iron Curtain between that intruder and the other two. She smiles, but she pulls down the curtain. Somehow she does it. Somehow she manages it without saying a word you could put your fork through and describe as "a mean remark." That iron curtain is invisible, but it is terribly strong. It

Regarding railroad conditions this year, I heard Samuel Bledsoe, President of the Santa Fe' railroad system tell a group of Rotarians some very pertinent facts.

Bledsoe said that patronage of railroads is increasing rapidly, but the ousiness like all others, suffered heavily from 1929 to 1935, and business in 1935 was only 55 per cent of that in 1928, and de luxe trains were deserted. Railroads, unable to fix their own rates and to determine pay scales for employes, suffered heavily from trucking competition, which in itself was not profitable to the motor operators.

All this time there was no failure in railway service, no increases in rates. Passenger rates, on the contrary, must have shown a down-

Fishermen in Michigan will not be allowed to "buy" fish hereafter according to a new law. It is unlawful to sell game fish in that state. This will be hard on the fish dealers who were always ready to help out the bird who did not catch any and wanted to blow about the fish he had—and bought.

DEAR MISS MARKEL—We girls are too often sad victims of the many cut-ins on dances we want to enjoy with our special boy friends. Please advise us how we can help ourselves.—SOPHOMORE.

Answer—In the first place, never use the expression "boy friend" as it suggests that you have only one friend of the masculine persuasion. Moreover, it will rate you very low, socially, if overheard by people of good breeding, just as will "girl friend."

Cut-in dances, also called robberdances and cheat dances in different parts of the country are, like crooning and jazz, a troublesome by-product of ultra-modernism. If the girls in your club or group so wish, they can make it a rule that such buccaneering is to be outlawed at your dances. In any event, you should enforce the usual rule not to yield to a cut-in from a man you do not know. But if you have to yield to this intrusion from someone you do know but dislike, stop dancing with the excuse that you are thirsty, or too warm and wish to be excused.

The World At A Glance

"John D." Comes Back Home.
Cleveland Has Changed Some.
Relaxation Prolonged Life.

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Columnist

CLEVELAND, May 26.—It was in this Ohio metropolis that John D. Rockefeller, Sr., obtained his start. It is here that his body is brought for burial.

It was from here that John D. Rockefeller directed the original efforts of the first huge trust—the Standard Oil company.

And it is here, of all places, that a new sort of industrial development has reached its greatest height—unionization.

There are phases of monopoly of which John D., Sr., never dreamt, but which John D., Jr., seems to recognize.

The new monopoly may be termed state regulated capitalism, with labor as a partner.

Now John D., Sr., was for monopoly of capitalism. He could see no survival (of the oil business at least) without it. He was ruthless in gaining his ends. He was denounced. His monopoly was split apart by federal court order. "Free competition" again was ordered.

But, in spite of court decree, in spite of public feeling, individualism never returned to business. It could not. There would have been no survival.

John D., Sr., saw that.

He probably saw more. It is related that he maintained a stranglehold on the Ohio legislature in his day to prevent any "socialistic laws".

He probably realized that capitalistic monopoly might trend toward socialistic control. He helped to spread the socialistic bugaboo.

But he failed to conceive state capitalism—a control, not by "socialistic" seizure but by broadening government control and by extended government taxation.

And, further, he failed to see that eventually it would not be a "redivision" of property through socialistic control but a gradual expropriation through taxation and regulation.

Even as John D. conceived the first great "trust" (operating combination of wealth) in Cleveland so too has the union of labor and government gone further in Cleveland than elsewhere in America. It is a city of industrial ideas and vision.

STILL FLOURISHING

The Rockefeller industry still flourishes in Cleveland (and elsewhere) in spite of the partnership of government and labor.

Standard Oil of Ohio, and its collateral interests, is in a decidedly healthy state.

he "Rockefeller" bank in Cleveland went through the bank failure days with not a dent.

The Rockefeller estate, denuded of all its old structures, now is surrounded by a growing residential area. John D., Jr., in the midst of the depression built an entire community of model houses on part of the estate. That venture has not been entirely successful—yet. But it will be eventually. There are blocks and blocks of building sites remaining. That land still will pay dividends—which is not bad for an old homestead.

John D. built Cleveland's first skyscraper years ago. It was sold when he moved from Cleveland—presumably with no loss.

John D. always was a cautious investor. He had a maxim in Cleveland that one always should have considerable cash on hand in proportion to his other investments. He explained that, while cash did not earn its "keep" in periods of prosperity, it saved the day for individuals and corporations in depression. Besides, it gave one an opportunity to buy valuable equities at distress prices—for, in a depression, nothing was so much sought as hard cash.

John D., Sr., already was too old to be active during the last depression. But it is known that John D., Jr., bought millions in equities—often against his will, but to save the day—during the dark days of 1929-'33. It will be recalled that in the midst of the 1929 stock market crash a statement was issued from the Rockefeller offices saying, "My son and I are buying common stock." That statement evidently was written by John D., Jr., as the old man already was feeble. The increase in the value of those equities has added tens of millions to the Rockefeller fortune.

AN HOUR'S REST

John D. Sr., attributed his ability to be active (far beyond the ordinary man's capability) to the fact that he could relax. We all know he played golf. And in his fifties and sixties he even rode a bicycle on his Cleveland estate. But his relaxations was far more simple than that.

He had a couch in his Cleveland office—and for an hour after lunch each day, even in early middle age, he would take a nap.

Even at that, he suffered from stomach trouble in his sixties and seventies, and with all his millions could partake of little more than bread and milk. But that diet, in itself, probably prolonged his life. For many persons past middle age kill themselves by eating too much.

WISH NOT GRANTED

After John D., Sr., passed 90, he had the usual desire of a very old person to live longer. He hoped to reach 100. Everything that medical science had to offer was at his disposal to see that this wish was granted—but nature was not to be stopped. The heart that had beat for nearly a century stopped just short of 98.

MORE ROCKEFELLLERS?

Will there be other Rockefellers, other Morgans, other Fords?

John D., Jr., and J. P. Morgan, themselves, have been quoted as saying, "No."

The government will prevent by taxation the accumulation of such huge wealth. That is the view of the inheritors of the vast fortunes made in the age of "trusts"—the huge capitalistic organizations which another Roosevelt, Theodore, attacked so vigorously.

AFTERWARD

When we returned the rooms were swept
The table set for tea
The little room wherein she slept
Was trim and orderly.

A neighbor met us at the door;
There's always one to stay
To dust the chairs and sweep the floor
And put the things away.

"Come now, and eat," the neighbor said
And, Oh, so sweetly smiled
As if she had been ages dead
And we were reconciled.

We oravely talked of this and that,
But strange it seemed to me
That in her chair the neighbor sat
And smiling poured the tea.

Hospital Aide In Membership Drive

Volunteer Aid Society Out To Increase Membership In Hospital Aide Unit

During the present week, the membership campaign of the Jameson Memorial Hospital Aide society is being conducted and an endeavor being made to add several hundred to the list of women interested in providing necessary supplies for the hospital.

The work of the aide society in the Jameson Memorial hospital has been one of the reasons why the hospital has functioned as efficiently as it has. Back of the hospital scenes has been this group of women working constantly, providing linens, making bandages and seeing to it that the other necessities were provided for the hospital.

Membership in the hospital aide group is not an exclusive thing. Any woman who wants to be a part of the work in helping maintain the Jameson Memorial hospital at its high standard is invited to join. The dues are as low as one dollar per year, but more than this amount is acceptable.

Mrs. A. Crawford Hoyt is the president of the aide society, and Miss Jennie Morgan treasurer. Women of New Castle who are interested can get any information necessary from either of these two women.

Many Medicinal Herbs Are Grown In Pennsylvania

Herb Farming Is Not Engaged Engaged In On Extensive Scale

HARRISBURG, May 26.—Several hundred medicinal plants or herbs can be found in the wild state or may readily be cultivated in Pennsylvania, Dr. E. M. Gress, state botanist, said today.

In western Pennsylvania recently Dr. L. K. Darbaker of the University of Pittsburgh faculty, found 259 different medicinal plants. An even longer list might be compiled in the eastern part of the state.

Most of the better known herbs or medicinal plants are native to Pennsylvania soil. This list includes: quack grass, calamus, poke weed, golden seal, goldthread, black cohosh, May apple, blood root, wild indigo, wild sarsaparilla, ginseng, pleurisy root, stone root, dandelion, burdock, peppermint and spearmint.

Herb farming is one of the oldest forms of American agriculture. A century ago the Shakers founded a community devoted to the cultivation of medicinal plants. A Shaker catalogue of 1849 lists about 150 herb products.

No longer is herb farming found on a large scale in Pennsylvania. Many farms cultivate small patches of ginseng if the natural habitats are available, or they may market small quantities of other medicinal plants, but labor costs are too high in this state for herb farming on a large scale.

American Mayor Of China City

American Lawyer Elected To Office Of Mayor In Shanghai, China

(International News Service)

SHANGHAI, China.—Mississippi-born lawyer Cornell S. Franklin has been elected chairman of the Shanghai Municipal Council, which office makes him virtual mayor of the International Settlement.

Contrary to the notion that this vast part of China's first port is mainly a British show, is the fact that with Mr. Franklin in the highest office and a man from Maine, Mr. Stirling Fessenden, in the number two office as secretary general of the council, the International Settlement's administration has a definitely American complexion.

Mr. Franklin has been in the Far East since 1914 and served as assistant attorney general in Honolulu for seven years before reaching Shanghai.

Devoted To City

While he promises no spectacular "new deal" for Shanghai during his administration, the chairman says:

"Shanghai is my home. I plan to live here the rest of my life. My son will probably continue here after me. So why should I not, like many other local residents, try to make Shanghai a better, safer place to live in?"

Mr. Franklin, who was a councilman for five years, is known to his Chinese, British and Japanese colleagues as a man whose business and legal training have taught him to seek compromise in solving problems. His new post requires every ounce of compromise possible in running the complex international affairs of the Settlement's administration.

The new chairman is the fourth American to hold that post in the past seventy years. His predecessors were John G. Purdon 1875, Harry de Gray, 1912, and Stirling Fessenden, 1923-1929.

Local Youth Is Sent To Army

Joseph Rosenberg, of 311 Knox street, is now enroute to Hawaii, where he will join the Coast Artillery Corps of the United States Army service, for an enlistment period of three years. According to recruiting officer, George Trebesh, Rosenberg applied for enlistment through the local station, and passed all examinations with high averages.

SEEKS FUNDS FOR LARGER FARM SHOW

HARRISBURG, May 26.—Agricultural interests throughout the state are uniting behind the movement to enlarge the Pennsylvania farm show building at Harrisburg.

Proposed additions include a coloseum seating 10,000, exclusive of the arena floor, cattle display sheds, dormitories for vocation school participants and offices for exhibitors.

The General State Authority will be urged to make an appropriation for this purpose.

Fendell's Death Probe Conducted

Jury Believes Overcrowded Conditions At Warren Is Largely To Blame

WARREN, Pa., May 26.—A jury, inquiring into the death of John Fendell, New Castle, patient at the Warren State hospital, who was found beaten to death in a room at the institution on the early morning of May 20, expressed the opinion, at an inquest conducted by Coroner Ed C. Lowrey on Tuesday afternoon, that the the killing was made possible by the overcrowded conditions at the hospital, by the antiquated construction of the building and by lack of sufficient help to police the wards.

The juryp found that Fendell came to his death from a fractured skull and other injuries inflicted by another patient, Sam Vidseick.

Fendell was found in the room of another patient last Thursday, beaten to death by a heavy club in the hands of Vidseick, who told officers he committed the deed "for God and my country."

ENGAGEMENT TOLD AT B. Y. P. U. BANQUET

The banquet held by members of the B. Y. P. U. of the First Baptist church Tuesday evening at New Wilmington, was a medium of winding up a most successful and interesting season of activities.

Adding a double significance to the occasion, was the engagement news revealed by telegram, making known the coming marriage of one of their group, Miss Betty Schunk and Kimmel Barbour, taking all by complete surprise. The date is set for June 24. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Schunk of 321 East Winter avenue, and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Barbour, 117 North Scott street.

After partaking of the full course menu, Manning Weller, president, spoke a few words concerning the activities of the group during the past year. In an original manner, Weller spoke of the various members.

Two solos were contributed by Clyde McCready, with Miss Ruth Peterson, accompanist. Following, a novel skit was presented by William Delbert Fletcher and Clyde McCready.

DINNER FOLLOWS WILDFLOWER TREK

Over the beautiful Young farm with its great variety of wild flowers, the East Brook Garden club enjoyed to the utmost, a trek Tuesday morning, beginning at 10:30.

Bluebells, red trillium, wild hyacinth, violets, meadow lily, wild mustard, honeysuckle, and others too numeous to mention, were specimens for study and drew forth ejaculations of pleasure at their beauty.

At noon, the group wound up at the Young home where a tureen dinner was well received. Almost too full to move, the women adjourned to the living room for the usual program which was in charge yesterday, of Mrs. John Robinson.

Mrs. H. H. Ingham was welcomed as a new member, and reports of various committees were heard.

The program yesterday was in charge of Mrs. F. E. Alborn. Roll call in the form of a question box.

Mrs. V. D. Johns' topic was entitled "The Poets Made My Iris Garden," which told the story of Iris the Rainbow and other interesting things through Greek mythology. She spoke of the Iris in Japan, also its decorative beauty and its usefulness to scientists.

An exhibit of Iris from the dainty baby Iris, through the gorgeous purple and white varieties was most interesting. Co-hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. J. A. Young and Miss Ruth Young.

Claim No Baker Estate Existed

Government Witness Searched Records In 67 Counties Of Pennsylvania

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, May 26.—A history of real estate in Pennsylvania was recounted today by a government witness in federal court here in the government's effort to disprove the existence of the now-famous "Baker estate".

Edward P. Smith of Philadelphia, who for 466 days conducted a minute search into the titles of the estate, was called to the stand. His testimony was expected to play an important part in the government's case, attorneys declared.

Smith said his search covered 67 counties in Pennsylvania and was connected with about 100 to 110 names allied to the "Baker estate".

Regarding the Jacob Baker will of 1839, which the government asserted was a fraud in Philadelphia three weeks ago, Smith said his "search disclosed that no Jacob Baker had the real estate called for."

Smith was one of many witnesses called by the government to testify to documentary evidence purportedly disproving the reality of the "Baker estate."

Parker Suspected Wendel As Kidnaper Of Lindbergh Baby

(International News Service)

NEWARK, N. J., May 26.—Ellis H. Parker suspected that Paul H. Wendel was "either the kidnaper of the Lindbergh baby or knew the kidnaper,' his attorney, James Mercer Davis, told a federal jury here today.

Davis' assertion came as he defended Parker and the latter's son, Ellis, Jr., on trial here for conspiracy to kndnap Wendel, who claims he was forced to confess to the Lindbergh crime.

Referring to the Parkers as two honest men, Davis said a person 'phoned the elder Parker shortly after the Lindbergh "snatch" and said he "knew something". That person, Davis stated, was Wendel, who during later talks with Parker about the Lindbergh case "convinced Parker that he was either the kidnaper or knew the kidnapers."

Perfume From Apples Is Now Possibility

(International News Service)

DETROIT, May 26.—Development of perfumes and a new kind of cellophane from apples was foreseen here Tuesday as the Farm Chemurgic Council opened its annual Dearborn conference.

Dr. H. E. Barnard, research director of the council, expressed hope that an experimental laboratory to find new uses for surplus apples and peaches could be built in Michigan in the future. He said, however, actual experiments would have to await returns from the council's experimental alcohol plant at Atchison, Kas.

"Hopes for new industrial uses for apples and peaches is one of the things to which we have turned our attention," said Dr. Barnard.

"We have already produced something resembling cellophane from apple pectin," he continued. "So it is quite possible that apples might be used for the cellulose wrapper now widely used as a casing for sausage."

Commercial Possibility.

The idea of perfume was suggested he said, "by memories of the delicious odor from my mother's kitchen after she had made a kettle of apple butter."

"Doesn't it appear that there ought to be commercial possibilities in the saving of perfume from the fruit of the orchard " he stated.

Apples already are being put to New uses, he said, by manufacture of apple puffed flakes as a cereal and development of apple powder for therapeutic uses.

Wives $4 Apiece In Belgian Congo

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 26.—There are no old maids in the Belgian Congo, and a husband is guaranteed for every woman over the age of six.

What's more, no man can walk off there and ditch a wife. He has to find her another husband before he can abandon her.

The Belgian Congo's answer to the old maid's prayer is polygamy, according to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Moser, Minnonite missionaries who returned to this country today after 15 years in the land of cannibalism and mass marriage.

With them, the Mosers brought their seven-year-old son, Burnell, who was born in the Congo, and Miss Doris Countryman of Yakima, Wash., still wide-eyed after her first trip to the cradle of swing music and voodoo.

In the Congo, a wife costs the equivalent of about $4 in cash, explained Moser, while his own nodded reluctant confirmation.

"A wife," he said, "usually costs you one goat, a jug of palm wine, a bit of cloth and maybe some vegetables."

As for getting rid of them, he said: "There is no divorce—you just trade her to someone else. But you can't leave her destitute. Of course, with a wife being worth $4, no one wants to."

Oil And Gas Industry May Be Investigated

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, May 26.—A $50,000 appropriation for use of the recently created commission to investigate the commonwealth's oil and gasoline industries was in sight today.

The senate approved the appropriation late yesterday and sent it to the house over warnings of Republican senators that the commission's report would be "just like so many other reports that cost the taxpayers so much money and never accomplish anything."

"We up in the oil districts," declared Sen. G. Mason Owlett, R., Tioga, 'do not need state laws to protect our industry."

Changes Report On State Taxes

Chairman of State Commission Reverses Statement Of Yesterday

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, May 26.—Chairman John Dent of the legislative commission investigating Pennsylvania's corporate tax structure surdenly took an about-face today and told the general assembly he had conveyed "false impressions" in reporting that "excessive" taxation was driving industry out of the state.

The preliminary report made yesterday, third to be presented since the commission was created, caused a furore in Earle administration circles and forced a statement from Dent, Westmoreland Democrat.

"We have called attention to the fact that a number of textile establishments have left the state," Dent declared in the senate. "In doing so we have merely stated a fact without discussing the many reasons involved.

"It is a well known fact that the entire northern textile industry has been shifting to the south, in order to take advantage of lower wages and other inducements.

"Therefore, while this commission is deeply concerned with the effect of state taxation upon industry, its researches to date indicate clearly that taxation has played a relatively small part, if any, in textile migration."

Tax Collections Bill "Tabled"

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, May 26.—By a vote of 75 to 108, the house early today laid a shroud on the much-debated Moomaw-Moran bill to abolish tax collectors and relegated it to its final resting place, the house table.

The house demonstrated it had undergone a change of heart since it voted to lay the measure on the table and halted abruptly the motion of Rep. J. P. Moran, D., Allegheny, to lift it for a second consideration.

Also defeated was a motion by Rep. Herbert Cohen, D., York, to suspend rules which prohibited debate on the lift motion.

Takes Place At Clinton M. E. Church In Wampum District

Rev. J. Greer Bingham pastor of the Wampum Presbyterian church gave a very practical address on the conditions at the present time and suggested ways that the Christian might adopt to bring about the desired result which must be total abstinence.

The closing address was delivered in a forceful manner by Attorney Robert L. Wallace who gave the political aspect to the situation and who stated that Christian people must not only vote right but that they must see that the men elected to represent them to legislative offices have the right stand as regards to the temperance question.

Railroad Workers Threaten Strike At Johnstown, Pa.

(International News Service)

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., May 26—More than 500 employes of the Connemaugh and Blacklick railroad, a subsidiary of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation here, today were considering a strike unless their demand for an agreement with the company is granted.

C. W. Jones, vice president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, refused to comment. "Call me tomorrow," he said, when pressed for a statement. Jones asserted there would be no walkout today.

It was learned employes of the railroad have been taking a strike vote since last week.

Report Violence Accompanies Strike At Republic Plants

Trouble Occurs At Canton and Massillon Plants As Strike Develops

(International News Service)

CANTON, O., May 26.—Violence today accompanied the "spontaneous walkout" of 11,000 employes of the Canton and Massillon, O., plants of the Republic Steel corporation as the titanic struggle between John L. Lewis's steel workers organizing committee and the leading independent steel corporations neared a climax.

Automobile windows were smashed by stones. There were reports a shotgun was fired at one of the Republic plants here. Pickets waved baseball bats, billiard cues and clubs as they milled about the plants. Police escorted company officials from the mills. Two men were injured by stones.

Heavy-muscled steel workers barricaded gates with wooden "sawhorses". Picket lines surrounded the sprawling, zig-zagging Canton plants of Republic here.

T. W. Liber, a Massillon, O., employe, protected to police he was attacked on leaving the plant.

"All Republic plants in the nation will be shut down today," predicted Homer Downer, of Canton, president of the "All Nations" lodge of the CIO. Republic employs 52,000 workers and Youngstown Sheet & Tube 27,000.

The men injured by stones when they attempted to brave a picket line in their automobile were James Mesares, 41, and Paul Townsend, 51. Glass particles were imbedded in Mesares's eyes. Townsend was cut above one ear.

Five squadrons of police were rushed to the factories by Mayor James Seccombe. The mayor decreed picketing must be orderly.

Umpire Tells How Cochrane Was "Beaned"

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 26.—Steve Basil, who was umpiring behind the plate when Mickey Cochrane was hit yesterday, today cleared up some confusion surrounding the accident.

"In the first place," said Basil, "the count on Mickey was three balls and two strikes and the ball that hit him, of course, was the fourth ball entitling him to first base.

"In the second place, the pitch was not a high curve as so many seem to believe but a fast ball that 'sailed' or 'took off' as the players say.

"The ball broke so sharply that the eye could hardly follow it and it is not surprising that Mickey was hit.

"I felt sick at heart when I saw Mickey go down and I'm sure Bump Hadley must have felt even worse for he certainly was not trying to dust o.. Mickey or anybody else."

We call the attention of the taxpayers of Lawrence County to some provisions of the law relating to the collection of taxes in Lawrence County.

COUNTY AND POOR TAXES

The Act of 1851, which has been applicable to Lawrence County since 1852, relates to the payment of County and Poor taxes and the collection of the same.

REBATE PERIODS

Under the provisions of said Act of 1851 the County Treasurer is made the receiver of taxes for the two earlier periods of each year. During the first period, which ends on August 1, the taxpayer may pay his taxes to the County Treasurer and receive a rebate of 5 per cent. This is not the general law of this Commonwealth, but is a special law relating to Lawrence County and some other counties. To fully appreciate the benefits of this law to the taxpayer of Lawrence County it is only necessary to remember that by it the prompt taxpayer gets the benefit of his promptness instead of the tax collector getting that benefit.

PAYMENT AT FACE PERIOD

The second period in which the County Treasurer is the receiver of taxes begins on August 2nd of each year. Under said Act of 1851 and the Act of May 1, 1933, there is a certain period within which the taxpayer in Lawrence County may pay the taxes to the County Treasurer at face, without being delinquent.

WHEN PENALTY ATTACHES

After the expiration of what might be called the "at face period," the taxes go to the delinquent tax collector, who adds five per cent to the taxes, which is his compensation for collecting.

ABATEMENT ACTS

Several Acts of Assembly have been passed in recent years in relief of delinquent taxpayers. The latest of these is the Act of April 14, 1937, which grants to the delinquent taxpayer certain rights and privileges, but does not take away from him any rights and privileges which he may have acquired under any of the former acts.

ABATEMENT UNDER ACT OF 1937

This Act of May 14, 1937, provides that under certain conditions, the taxes for the year 1934 and all years prior thereto may be paid at face without either penalty or interest, and that all taxes for the years 1935 and 1936 may be paid without penalties, but with interest, provided advantage is taken of this privilege on or before November 1, 1937. If a taxpayer pays all his taxes for the year 1936 and all years prior thereto, he will have the right to do so whether or not he has paid his taxes for the year 1937.

FIVE YEARLY INSTALLMENTS ALLOWED

Said Act of April 14, 1937, also grants to the delinquent taxpayer another important right and privilege. That is, if he pays his taxes for the year 1937 before they become delinquent, he may pay his delinquent taxes in five equal annual installments, paying one-fifth on or before November 1, 1937; one-fifth on or before November 1, 1938; one-fifth on or before November 1, 1939; one-fifth on or before November 1, 1940, and one-fifth on or before November 1, 1941. However, in order to continue to have this privilege of paying in five equal annual installments he must continue to pay all the current taxes during the said five years. Otherwise he loses the right which he had already acquired. If this plan is carried out, there will be no interest on the taxes for the years 1935 and 1936 after the payment of the first installment.

PROVISION FOR OTHER TAXES

The Act of 1851 above referred to applies to the County and Poor taxes, only, but the Act of 1937 applies, not only to counties but also to cities, boroughs, townships and school districts, and the taxes due and payable to them may be paid under the provisions of said Act.

SEPARATE PARCELS MAY BE SELECTED

Advantage of the Act of 1937 may be taken as to a separate parcel of land without taking advantage of it as to any other parcel of land which may belong to the same taxpayer.

WHERE TAXES ARE PAYABLE

Taypayers desiring to take advantage of the Act of April 14, 1937, will pay their County and Poor taxes to the County Treasurer, and city, borough, township and school taxes will be paid to the local collectors as heretofore.

THIS STATEMENT NOT DIGEST

This statement is not intended as a digest of the law, but is rather intended to put the taxpayer on inquiry as to his rights.

J. & L. Company Signs Agreement

S. W. O. C. Given Collective Bargaining Right In Big Steel Plants

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, May 26. — An epoch-making contract, granting John L. Lewis' Steel Workers Organizing committee exclusive bargaining rights for all 27,000 employes of the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation, was signed this afternoon.

The contract was granted in accord with the terms of the settlement of a 36-hour strike recently at the plants of J. & L., one of the largest independents and the nation's fourth largest steel producer. At a Wagner act election held on Thursday the C.I.O. Union won a better than 2 to 1 vote of J. & L. employes.

The signatures of Horace E. Lewis, chairman of the J. & L. board, and Philip Murray, S.W.O.C. chairman, were appended at 2:43 E. D. T.

The contract stipulates that if any worker who is not a member of the S.W.O.C. has a grievance, the S.W.O.C. is not required to represent him.

ward tendency, being less than two cents a passenger mile today, as compared with about three cents in 1935; and passengers paying the reduced fare get air-conditioned cars not available then and greater speed.

Movement of freight also has been speeded and loads are twenty-four per cent heavier now than in 1928. Pickup and delivery service have been supplied at no increase in cost to the shippers; there have been no car shortages because of close co-operation between companies, and now revenues are increasing. Carloadings for the first three months of 1937 were eighteen per cent greater than for the corresponding period of 1936; passenger business is twenty-five per cent greater than a year ago, when it was twenty-five per cent greater than in 1935.

A word of caution against restrictive legislation was sounded by the railway executive. Train limit, full crew bills, and six-hour day bills are before many legislative bodies. These he said, will not benefit employes, but will burden those seeking a market for their products and the Santa Fe system's workers get as much as they did in 1929.

He gave assurance that unless the railways of the nation are given a greater burden than they can bear, they will continue a transporation service that has become known as the finest in history.

Streamline railway trains are the latest development in transportation and the Super Chief, built for the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe road for service between Chicago and Los Angeles, is the very last word in the race for transcontinental passengers.

I was shown this train on May 13th. It consists of eight cars and what I call a "puller," the whole train being about one-half the weight of the old eight-car train and it cost $960,000!

Designed for long, fast trips across the continent, this rolling city contains everything that its inhabitants might need in the thirty-nine hours from Chicago to Los Angeles.

One of the innovations is the car composed entirely of compartments, or drawing rooms, of different size. Each is furnished differently. In every respect, the train has been designed to cater to the needs of individualists.

Air conditioning provides further comfort. The temperature maintained evenly through the hottest deserts, is that which has been found by experimentation to be best suited for keeping human beings happy. The possibilities if irritating sticky heat, and dust getting into everything and parching travelers have been eliminated.

Gone is the puffing locomotive. In its stead is a power unit that looks from the outside, almost like any other car of the train. A huge diesel engine, burning cheap fuel oil, generates electricity that, in turn, runs the train. The engineer and firemen sit forward, looking out through windshields that would do credit to an airliner. Gone are the soot and smoke. The firemen is a fireman in name only. His duties no longer include stoking the furnace with coal.

In one end of a lounge room there is a bar. I asked the bartender what he did when the train was traveling through Kansas. "Ah shuts down business and locks evahthing up, boss," he replied. "Dem folks in Kansas ain't caught up wif di Super Chief, yet."

Quarters for the crew are an entirely new note in the workingman's world. The conductor is no longer just a ticket-puncher. He is the manager of a rolling hotel and the crew of his Super Chief already has caught this spirit.

There is a barber shop abroad.

The stainless-steel equipped kitchen would be a joy to any housewife.

It's in the structure of the cars themselves that the train makes a great departure from convention. The cars are of big sheets of steel, and braced in a new way, increasing the safety factor of railroad traveling.

My guide said all staterooms of this train have been booked until after July 2.

shuts you out perfectly. It has the magic power, too, of making you seem clumsy and rude and only half dressed. It is the cleverest of all inventions and it never fails—if you know how to pull it down.

There's that terrible iron curtain, but strangely enough the young man, poor idiot, doesn't even know it is there. He continues to talk to the first charmer. He turns to include the second. He talks to her, too. HE doesn't mind being surrounded by two such attractive creatures. He'll do his best.

But that second young lady KNOWS! Don't fool yourself about that. She sees the iron curtain and, if she is very clever herself, she admires the cleverness of that girl who ordered the iron curtain down. She has done that, too. She knows how it's done, without a change of expression, or perhaps with only an added brightness in the eyes or an increased gaiety in the smile. Girls know how, but when a man tries it everybody knows he's failed. He looks sulky or defiant, or his eyes flash, or he sticks out his jaw. He can't put it over, he gives himself away.

But the women—well, they pull down the invisible iron curtain to perfection—and it's one of those things about women that men sometimes talk about when they are together, and wonder about, but never quite solve.

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Many Problems Still Unsolved

Washington Finds That Troubles Are Not Yielding As Quickly As Anticipated

STRIKES PERSIST UNDER WAGNER LAW

Central Press

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, May 26.—Quite a number of things in Washington are failing to evolve themselves as had been expected.

For one item, the labor relations board has on its hands a much more complicated task than was anticipated. When the supreme court upheld the Wagner law, under which the board was created, it generally assumed that the labor situation was all straightened out.

Instead, strikes continue right along.

The labor relations board can force employers to negotiate with their workers collectively, but it cannot force an agreement on terms. Lacking an agreement, a strike is as much in order as ever.

A HARASSED BOARD

Then again, what group of workers is to do the collective bargaining on the workers' side?

The board is empowered to supervise elections to decide that question. But the workers are not all ready for elections. If an employing plant's workers are but imperfectly organized, those who are trying to effect some particular organization do not desire an election too soon; otherwise they risk being outvoted. They desire more time, during which conditions get worse.

Moreover, the fight between John L. Lewis' C. I. O. and William Green's A. F. of L, had not broken out when the labor relations board was invented. That was not foreseen. Now it is another problem (and an ugly one) for the board to wrestle with.

This is only the beginning and already it is a badly harassed board.

SOCIAL SECURITY MONEY

Another mean query is being put: "What is becoming of social security tax receipts?"

The charge is made (and not denied) that, as these receipts come into the treasury, they are used to meet current expenses, I. O. U.'s being chucked into the cash drawer to represent them.

Various lawmakers on Capitol Hill have expressed the opinion all along that, when the moment arrives for a $47,000,000,000 pool to be available to pension off the country's superannuated toilers, the pool won't be there—or it will be empty except for I. O. U.'s, anyway.

Government economy talk is not convincing, either.

President Roosevelt called for economy, to be sure, but went into no details—as to how.

Some imposing-looking cuts in appropriations for the 1937-8 fiscal year undoubtedly will be made. But, by about next January, a lot of these allowances are reasonably sure to be used up, and what fiscal experts call "deficiency appropriations" will have to be made, making the total as big as ever.

This will be unfortunate, considering that the president has mentioned $35,000,000,000 as approximately the largest debt Uncle Sam can carry without injuring his credit—and he is above that figure today.

INFLATION?

Inflation is an additional threat.

It is another way of saying "higher prices". Which would be o. k. if incomes increase correspondingly, but they never do—or only very belatedly.

The administration is terribly afraid of it and constantly preaches contrariwise. Nevertheless, prices continue to rise. They can't but do so, with the national debt steadily mounting. No matter why; it is an economic law, as inevitable as death or taxation.

NO ACTION HERE

Abuses like that of the Van Sweringen empire—involving the gobbling of $3,000,000,000 worth of properties for a few hundreds of thousands—were to have been abolished at this session of Congress also.

It will be lucky if they are abolished in the course of the next few sessions.

The supposition was that the governmental departments and bureaus would be shrunken, in the interests of economy and increased efficiency. The "dope" is that a couple of cabinet departments will be added.

STEWART'S VIEW

Am I a pessimist?

Well:

Thank heaven, I'll be dead and shan't have to worry over the jam into which my own generation has involved itself.

Struck by lightning while working along the Bessemer and Lake Erie railroad, James A. Sollinger, 41, of Slippery Rock R. D. 5, was injured Saturday night but is expected to be able to leave the Butler County Memorial hospital today.

There is as much difference between being "toasted" and "roasted" as there is between being "cheered" and "jeered." The faculty of Allegheny College received the annual toasting the other day as collegians at Meadville had their traditional moving up day exercises at Ford Memorial Chapel. Dressed as ringmaster of a circus, Joseph W. Philippbar of the class of '38, introduced members of the faculty as "feature attractions." The student body found it all very amusing.

Two persons suffered minor hurts at Meadville Sunday when, according to City Patrolman William McGuire, a car driven by Francis Ryder of Volant struck a car driven by Percy Clark of Meadville. Clark suffered a neck sprain and a passenger in his car, Mrs. L. Anderson, a bruised forehead. The accident happened at a traffic light.

Members of the First Baptist church of Sharon have refused to accept the resignation of Rev. Robert E. Stark who has been pastor for three years. The action was considered a tribute to Rev. Stark, who is considered one of the leading exponents of fundamentalism.

At Salt Lake City it was wash day for Merl Worthington, 20, who painstakingly scrubbed with soap and water every inch of a curb stop sign. Justice of the Peace Fred Lindbeck ordered him to scour the sign for having failed to observe it.

Ford Flatt, a farmer of White Hall, Ill., couldn't neglect his plowing to attend baseball games or listen to them over the radio—but he solved the problem. He installed a radio on his new tractor.

On his customary morning horseback ride King Christian X of Denmark met a photographer who has been snapping at him for 25 years. The cameraman called out congratulations, because the day marked the king's silver jubilee. The king bestowed a knighthood on him.

James Stewart, who has risen to stardom in Hollywood and "Seventh Heaven," hails from Indiana, Pa., and atteded Mercersburg Academy during his "prep" years. His first stage director was Carl B. Cass, now dramatics coach at Pitt, who admits that he "wouldn't know a screen star if one kicked me." Mr. Cass says that Stewart "was about as clumsy a young adolescent as any play coach ever had to work with. He was a long-legged kid who looked funny in any kind of clothes he wore. And he had to be coached so that he wouldn't fall when he walked on the stage." Another Mercersburg student at that time was Dick Foran (J. Nicholas Foran) who is also seen regularly in the cinema. One of his roles was with Leslie Howard "The Petrified Forest."

After listening to the examination of persons who want to become citizens of the United States it seems to be apparent that it isn't such a tough job. All you have to do is memorize some answers, renounce allegiance to some other soveriegn and there you are.

In the examination some queer answers are received. In naturalization court now under way in the Lawrence County courts, some of the applicants have queer ideas. One applicant was asked who made the laws for this country and he replied "my mother-in-law."

Anothr one was asked how laws were made in Washington and he replied that the law was written and then sent to the "Republican department" whatever that might be.

Still another one was asked who the first president was and replied, "Mr. Hoover."

Among a number of applicants were those who seemed totally ignorant of the fundamentals of American government and many of those were rejected by Examiner Starliper.

Beer licenses will be issued within a week by county treasurer Joseph H. Hartland and not all of the applicents will get their license this year. Several have been rejected upon petition of the district attorney who cited reasons for the rejection.

Among the reasons ascribed for rejection of licenses are selling liquor on a beer license. Selling to non-members of clubs. Permitting gambling to be carried on in the club. About eight beer licenses will be refused the county treasurer said.

For the past few months agents of the state have been inspecting licensed places in the county and the state is also refusing some licenses.

In the county only a beer license can be issued by the county treasurer. To sell hard liquor a license must be obtained from the state liquor control board.

AROUND CITY HALL

Placing of the police motorcycle in service yesterday is another move toward solving the traffic problems here. Officer Sigler has been designated as the rider. He will travel to all sections of the city and one of his principal objects will be to help eliminate the menace of reckless operation of motor vehicles.

It has been noted recently that few automobiles are being stolen here. Most of the cars which have been stolen have been recovered. For a time police were worried over the theft of cars here and found in Mercer county and vice versa. The State Highway patrol was called upon to help the city police solve the thefts. However, apparently they have almost stopped.

Efforts are under way to make a nice parking place for automobiles at Cascade Park, employes of the WPA having been assigned to put through the city project. There will be no parking fee at Cascade Park this summer. This decision was arrived at when it was believed that elimination of such a fee would help to swell attendance at the recreation center.

Substantial Men Carry Umbrellas

McIntyre Asserts Umbrella Is Badge Of Steady Dependability

CONTRASTS GIRLS TODAY AND OF YORE

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, May 26.—There is always something substantial to me about a man who carries a neatly rolled umbrella. It's a sort of badge of steady going dependability.

O. O. McIntyre

Among the umbrella carriers that pop into mind is Prof. William Lyon Phelps. I have never seen him without one.

In many ways he is our American "Mr. Chips," and to his intimates Billy Phelps. As professor emeritus of English literature at Yale he is one of the best known educators on this side of the Atlantic. Students and the Alumni pay him singular devotion.

For years he has as a side diversion been a critic of the drama and the one reviewer who gets his slant on new productions by attending matinees only. He waits until the show has settled down—jelled as it were—before giving it a critical once over.

Along the Rialto he is a familiar figure bobbing across town on his visits from New Haven to attend the theatre. And hurrying back to catch his train for his elm-shaded retreat in the shadows of the great university. A kindly, gentle soul, the like of which the world needs greatly these days.

Almost every college town has its Professor Phelps. Out in Plattsburg, Mo., where I was born, we had Prof. Ellis and his son Breckenridge at our struggling little college. When the elder Ellis passed, his son taught for many years. Today he stands as a gallant monument to triumph over affliction. In early boyhood he was left paralyzed from the waist down by a malignant fever and confined forever after in a wheel chair. Coupled with that was his fast failing eyesight that only permitted light to his eyes several hours a day. Yet he has written more than 30 novels, many of which had wide sales and several of which were filmed in Hollywood. Every day he wheels to the post office and along the way chats with neighbors, comforts and cheers the sick, forlorn and distressed, stops in to talk to Horace Riley, the banker, and works as hard as anyone in town.

A bewildered citizen writes in to know what has become of the old fashioned girl who was ashamed to have her whatyoucallems hanging on the line on wash day? I don't know, but her prototype might be the one who sat next to me at Armand's the other day wearing shorts, a bandana kerchief, smoking a cigaret and telling an off color honey.

Barney Gallant in his latest clutch for the night crowds that once swarmed to his rookery in The Village has a brightly decorated spot on University Place that seems to be doing all right. A glittering blue sign, "Barney," heralds his bid for patronage. Barney has had a string of upsets along with his various successes in catering to caper—but it has not dulled his bonhomie or throttled his amusing Oxford accent. Incidentally Barney has the heaviest and fastest growing beard the tonsors ever laid a razor against. Twice a day shaving and often thrice is a necessity. Or he becomes an overnight Bill Plankinton.

The tall young Virginia writer, Joe Bryan III, was recently invited to a swank Long Island villa for the week-end. His host sent for him in an imported car with local and European license plates and a Jap chauffeur in plum-colored livery. Bryan tried to live up to the magnificence by affecting an easy nonchalance, one leg crossed over the other and gazing blandly on the passing scene. But some youngsters in an outrageous flivver kept sidling up, peeping in, shouting with laughter and dropping back. Finally Bryan glanced down at his foot. There was a big hole in the sole of his shoe.

Mrs. Sam Goldwyn is reputedly Hollywood's greatest coffee drinker. She does not smoke or indulge alcoholic tipples but wherever she goes must be constantly supplied with coffee or she is likely to make an early exit. And her coffee cannot be served in the usual manner. She insists the cup must be heated before filling. Mrs. Goldwyn is also noted for her attainments as a palmist. Some of her readings have been so uncanny as to astonish even the blase crowds of the movie colony. Incidentally, Mrs. Goldwyn chuckles as much as any one at some of her famous husband's lingual faux pas, receiving such elaboration recently in Saturday Evening Post article. She, like his intimates, appreciates his artistic genius and if he wants to scramble the metaphors she thinks, in view of his lack of education, it is perfectly all right.

A lady I greatly admire recalled a mutual adolescent jitter jet today with hilarity. It was during a period when I was casting sheep's eyes. On her way to the post office as I trailed along a post card fell out of her hand and rushing up to retrieve it I gabbled: "You scropped your pistol chard." Equally fussed she replied "O, you thank so much."

Indiana Bandits Wound Officers And Make Escape

Goodland State Bank Is Robbed Of $2,500, Bandits Escaped Criminals

(International News Service)

LOGANSPORT, Ind., May 26.—One officer was critically wounded and another was shot in a gun battle which followed a $2,500 robbery at the Goodland State bank Tuesday.

The fleeing gunmen who turned a withering blast of gunfire on the officers when they were stopped five miles from here, were identified as Al Brady, Indiana's current "Dillinger," and James Dolhover, one of Brady's chief lieutenants.

Both escaped jail at Greenfield, where they awaited trial for the murder of a policeman, several months ago, and since have launched a series of desperate criminal forays.

Paul Minneman, 31, of Logansport, a state policeman, was critically wounded in Tuesday's gunplay, and Elmer Craig, White county deputy sheriff, was shot in the foot.

The bandits escaped.

College Ban On Co-eds Lifted 100 Years Ago

Oberlin College Plans Celebration To Mark Anniversary Next Month

(International News Service)

OBERLIN, O.—One hundred years ago next month the first co-ed was admitted to a higher institution of learning and Oberlin college, pioneer in the co-educational field, will observe the occasion as part of its graduation exercises.

Tradition was set aside in 1837, four years after the founding of the college by Peter Pindar Pease of Vermont, when Oberlin opened its halls to the feminine sex.

Until then feminine education was confined to a few inconsequential elementary studies and no college in the United States had admitted a woman student.

Called Revolutionary.

The step hardly seems a radical one today, in view of the acceptance of women in every profession and field. Oberlin's action 100 years ago, however, in emancipating the woman was considered nothing short of revolutionary.

At first it was considered immoral for women and men to walk together, so two walks were constructed on Oberlin's campus, one for men and the other for women students. In the classroom men and women sat on opposite sides of the room.

Oberlin's example in admitting women students to studies was soon followed by other institutions and co-education became the new rule in college and university procedure.

School Graduates 51 Blast Survivors

Families Of 300 Dead Hear Plea To 'Carry On' As Exercises Are Under Way

NEW LONDON, Texas, May 26.—Commencement week is under way at the New London Consolidated School. There are 51 seniors who survived the gas explosion on March 18 that wrecked the main building and killed 300 children.

There were 28 seniors killed. The graduating class still is the largest in the school's history.

Rev. R. L. Jackson, Methodist minister, referred only indirectly to the tragedy in the baccalaureate sermon which he delivered before a crowd of 5000 in the gymnasium.

Speaking of "hardships and disappointments" with which people and communities sometimes were afflicted, he said:

"By working with God . . . you can attain great achievements."

Families of dead and living school children interpreted one part of the sermon as advising them "to carry on," in spite of their grief. Addressing himself to the football team, Mr. Jackson said:

"You may be thrown for losses and lose games, but by working together you can come back and win victories."

"We still have our largest graduating class," he said.

Superintendent W. C. Shaw resigned a week ago on request of the board of trustees who hoped to allay an undercurrent of discord that spread among the parents since the disaster.

Shaw lost an 18-year-old son in the explosion and was absolved by a military court of inquiry of any blame for it, but some of the parents were said to have been resentful of the way in which school officials permitted "waste" gas to be piped into the school's heating system. An accumulation of gas in the basement was blamed for the explosion.

Body Of Negro Burned By Mob

International News Service Staff

BAINBRIDGE, Ga., May 26.—Quiet returned to Bainbridge Tuesday after a mob of 100 men seized the body of Willie Reed, confessed Negro killer of two white women, from an undertaking parlor and burned it in a baseball park after dragging it through the public square.

Roping the Negro's body to the rear of an automobile, members of the mob formed a procession of several cars and drove through the town dragging Reed's body in the street.

After circling the public square, the procession went to a Negro baseball park. There the men built a roaring fire, using fence boards for kindling, and burned the body.

Deputies shot and killed Reed a few hours earlier when he tried to escape while being taken to jail, Sheriff W. J. Catledge announced. The Negro was arrested at Dothan, Ala., and confessed murdering Mrs. Ruby Hurst, 30, and Venie Mae Richards, 16, the sheriff said.

The mob dispersed early Tuesday after disposing of the Negro's body.

AERIAL MAPPING

HARRISBURG.—Portions of 12 Pennsylvania counties are to be air-mapped by the agricultural adjustment administration this year when it obtains from the air a performance record of the soil conservation program in thirty-four states.

Aerial mapping will be done in Adams, Berks, Chester, Cumberland, Dauphin, Delaware, Franklin, Lancaster, Lebanon, Montgomery, Perry and York counties. The completed maps will encompass 4,843 square miles in this state and 350,000 square miles in the nation.

CANNING CROPS

HARRISBURG.—An increase of 280 per cent in twelve years in the Pennsylvania acreage planted in vegetables for commercial canning is shown by a bulletin on grading and canning crops issued today by the Bureau of Markets, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture. A comparable increase in fruits grown for processing is also shown.

Copies may be obtained without cost from the Bureau of Markets, Department of Agriculture, Harrisburg, Pa.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

U. S. TO RELAX ITS MONOPOLY ON HELIUM

Old Policy Is To Be Changed

Official Announcement Of Action To Be Held Up For Time

GERMANY MAY SECURE SUPPLY

By ROBERT G. NIXON
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright 1937)

WASHINGTON, May 26.—The United States government is prepared to relax its iron-clad monopoly on the world's helium supply to assure the future of trans-oceanic dirigible passenger service, a high government authority stated today.

The horror of the Hindenburg disaster with its tragic toll of life, coupled with the virtual abandonment of the lighter-than-air field by the U. S. army and navy, has precipitated the decision to abandon a 12-year policy of excluding helium from export as a national defense measure.

Withhold Announcement

Official announcement of the new policy will be withheld, it was declared, pending formal application by the German government for purchase of helium.

Dr. Hugo Eckener, designer of the Hindenburg and Germany's premier dirigible genius, today planned to confer with government authorities and file a formal plea with President Roosevelt for an adequate supply of the non-explosive helium for commercial use in the Nazi trans-Atlantic Zeppelins.

Government sentiment on the release of restrictions on export of helium was revealed in an unofficial poll of five government departments named by the president to study and report on the question.

The president appointed the secretaries of state, war, navy, interior and commerce departments to make a report. The final decision rests with the president.

Export Forbidden In 1925

Under the congressional act of 1925 helium export was forbidden as a national defense measure, with the proviso, that the president, could grant exceptions after consultation with the government departments concerned.

The cabinet committee's favorable recommendation, it was learned, will carry with its provisions that:

1. If Germany is permitted to purchase the gas the supply must be restricted to an amount sufficient only for commercial use. She will not be allowed to store huge quantities for a war contingency.

2. Germany must be willing to train a certain number of American naval officers and enlisted men in the operation of the huge ships as a nucleus for re-building a lighter-than-air service in the U. S. navy, or to make possible the launching of an American trans-oceanic commercial dirigible service.

House Crushes Home Rule Move On Relief Plan

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 26.—By a vote of 172 to 70, the house on Tuesday crushed a Republican effort for "home rule" on relief by turning administration back to the states and providing $1,500,000,000 federal aid in the next year.

The proposal, known as the Vandenburg-Bacon amendment, was offered to the relief bill by Rep. Bacon (R) of New York.

National Radiator Corporation Display At Mellon Institute Draws Attention

BUILDING USES NATIONAL PRODUCTS

Products of the National Radiator Corporation are on display at the new $6,000,000 Mellon Institute building, Pittsburgh, as representative equipment of the heating industry along with the products of forty of the sixty some other industrial concerns which maintain fellowships at the institute. The exhibits were displayed in connection with the official dedication of the new building which took place a few days ago. Upon request, National's products were not removed following the dedicatory exercises, and will remain on display until June 1.

National has maintained the heating fellowship at the institute since 1929. Dr. John L. Young is the senior fellow in charge and it is understood that he has made some very notable contributions in solving problems applying to the design and manufacture of heating and air conditioning equipment.

Officials of the corporation were guests of the institute during the dedication exercises, which were attended by many outstanding scientists. The new building, which was under construction for six years and practically covers an entire block, is heated by National Aero convectors and Aero tube radiation.

May Be Possible To Phone To North Pole

(International News Service)

MOSCOW, May 26.—Within a few days it will be theoretically possible to lift a telephone receiver in New York and establish connections with the North Pole.

Radio-telephonic equipment, it was stated here today, will be installed in the next few days at the Soviet polar station at the top of the world, making a direct connection possible with Moscow and the rest of the world.

All the members of the Russian outpost reported to Moscow today by radio they were well and "had started astronomical observations and were studying the drift of ice floes in the center of the Arctic basin."

"We are drifting to the west half a mile an hour," wirelessed Camp Leader Papanin. "Our ice floe is three meters thick.' Members of the expedition expressed no fears for their safety.

Mark Troyanovsky, nephew of the Soviet ambassador to the United States, and 13th member of the expedition to land at the "North Pole camp", already has begun to make a complete film record of the activities of the polar residents, reports received here said.

After a blizzard delayed operations for a time, conditions now are reported favorable for the three supply planes at Rudolf Island to take off for the camp.

The planes will drop large dye bombs every 30 miles along their route. The dye will spread over a large area of ice, showing the squadron of planes the exact route for the homeward journey.

The camp at the North Pole is expected to become a stop-over point for a projected air route from Moscow to San Francisco.

Plan To Abandon Big CCC Camp

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 26.—Nothing definitely will be known concerning the ordered abandonment of C.C.C. Camp 10 at Laurel Mill, two miles west of Ridgway, for two or three days, the office of Rep. Benjamin Jarrett reported Tuesday.

There is a possibility, according to Jarrett's office, that a camp near No. 10, believed to be No. 101, which was slated to be abandoned June 20, may be continued.

Jarrett has been the recipient of telegrams asking that the camp be continued.

BETSY ROSS HOUSE

Do you know that the Betsy Ross House at 239 Arch street, Philadelphia, is being restored just as it was in 1776?

Here the first American flag was made by Betsy Ross. The house was visited annually by hundreds of tourists, but many changes have been made before the Betsy Ross Memorial Association became the owner of the building 40 years ago. Fire-places, the spiral stairway in the front of the house, wide-board floors, etc., will be restored, and when the work will have been completed it will present to visitors a true replica of this historic home. Betsy Ross died in 1836 at the age of 84 years.

DEFENSE RESTS IN MacKNIGHT TRIAL

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

JERSEY CITY, N. J., May 26.—With a jury of grave-faced, middle-aged men in full possession of contradictory testimony whereby two school-age former sweethearts sought to cheat the electric chair by branding each other a killer, the defense rested today at the trial of Donald Wightman and Gladys MacKnight for the axe-murder of Gladys' mother, Mrs. Helen MacKnight.

Both took the witness stand in their own defense Gladys, imperturbable and defiant, cooly declared that Psalm-singing Donald wielded the axe that struck again and again on the graying head of her mother while she (Gladys) sought to wrest a carving knife from the distraught woman in the kitchen of the MacKnight home.

In direct contravention, Donald pictured himself as a twentieth-century cavalier who, because of his youthful light-o'-love—and at her tearful behest—assumed the mantle of guilt for the slaying, tragic climax to a "kissing" party between Gladys and Donald.

It was Gladys, he said—shrewd and calculating—who kissed him and, like Ruth Snyder, cajoled him into allegedly false self-accusations . . . Gladys, he said, who swung the axe that crushed out the life of her mother . . . Gladys, he claimed, who deftly lured him into taking the blame by telling him it would "prove his love" for her.

Gates To Cleveland Cemetery To Be Closed To Visitors On Thursday

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND, O., May 26.—In order to assure complete privacy for the burial of John D. Rockefeller, the gates of Lake View cemetery here will be closed to all visitors between the hours of 8 and 10 a. m. (E.S.T.) tomorrow, Howard H. Hawkins, cemetery superintendent, said today.

The body, to be brought here from Tarrytown, N. Y., in a private car on the New York Central, will be taken from the car at East Cleveland station, near the cemetery. The car will be detached from the train at Collingwood, a railroad yard east of here, and taken to the station separately.

Only members of the immediate family will witness the burial in the green-turfed family plot. The oil king will be laid to rest by the myrtle-covered graves of his wife and his mother at the foot of a tall stone spire marking the Rockefeller lot.

While Standard Oil branches throughout the world honored their founder's death with a five-minute period of silence, special recognition will be made by Rockefeller's first oil company. Standard Oil of Ohio will close its offices here all tomorrow afternoon.

"I COMPARED THEM ALL...THEN PICKED CHRYSLER ROYAL!"

CLEVELAND

★ "When I heard Chrysler was invading the low-priced field, I was intensely interested in what kind of car this Chrysler would be. I not only looked it over carefully . . . but compared it with the other cars in its field.

"I found nothing that approached the Chrysler Royal in sheer dollar-for-dollar value. And since I have owned it, it has exceeded my highest expectations . . . in economy . . . riding comfort . . . and performance.

"With a wealth of engine power available, all modern safety devices, and outstanding smartness of styling, the car affords a pride of ownership which surpasses all other cars at anywhere near its size and price."

★ "BEYOND COMPARISON FOR ROOM"
—Mrs. Oscar Hocks, San Francisco

"I am more pleased with the Chrysler Royal than any other car I have owned. Its styling is so distinctively different. And really—no other car, even those priced considerably higher, compares with it for roominess. The safety of its all-steel body gives me a genuine feeling of security."

ALL AMERICA IS TALKING ABOUT THIS AMAZING CAR!

★ "BEST LOOKING CAR OF THEM ALL!"
—Elmer Hirschhorn, New York

"I think that the Chrysler Royal is the best looking car on the road . . . and it certainly is a wonder to drive. I use my Royal in business, and in all kinds of driving, I easily show 18 miles per gallon of gasoline. I never saw a better riding car."

★ "21 MILES PER GALLON ON COUNTRY TRIPS"
—Geo. C. Bourne, Hammond, Ind.

"Even without its remarkable economy, the Chrysler Royal would be a great car from the standpoint of power, pick-up, smoothness and riding comfort. But when you can have all those things in a great big roomy car, and still enjoy greater economy than smaller cars, you really have a miracle of engineering!"

CHRYSLER INVADES THE LOW-PRICED FIELD!

Baseball Fans Are Excited By Many Incidents

Hubbell's Winning Streak, Feller's Sore Arm, Pirates On Top

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 26.—Messrs. Ford Frick, prexy of the National league, and Will Harridge, ditto of the American, are on record today with forecasts that this will be the greatest baseball year baseball has known both for attendance and competitive play.

Events to date serve to confirm the judgments of both league leaders. Fans have been stirred to fever heat by the constant shifting of teams in the standing. A leader today may be in the second division before the week is out, and turnstiles are clicking a tune dear to the heart of the magnates.

Need Feller.

Fights on the field, the fining of Van Mungo, the winning streak of Carl Hubbell, the popping off of Dizzy Dean, the rise of the Pirates and the more surprising charge of the Athletics and the mystery of Bob Feller's arm, have added fuel to the flames.

The young Iowa farm boy is distinctly worried and so are the Cleveland owners. With Bob in trim and ready to take his turn in the box, the Indians might well be leading the league. Manager Steve O'Neil said today he surmises that if the million dollar arm responds to treatments his team will walk in. If not—well, Steve thinks his team still has a chance.

South Side Team Schedules Games

The South Side Board of Trade team will play the Hillsville team of the County League at the Rosena Field at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, it was announced by Manager Charles Scaglione.

Hillsville has a fast team, having defeated Bessemer the County league champs of last year 4 to 1. The Board of Trade team will use Eddie Lamm on the knoll.

Dorie Gunnett will hurl Thursday against the Sixth Ward Firemen on Sunday.

Home Run Hitters

DiMaggio (Yanks); Cochrane (Tigers); McCarthy (Giants); Browne (Phillies); Lazzeri (Yanks).

Leaders — Bartell (Giants) 10; Medwick (Cards) 8; Selkirk (Yanks) 7.

Bushranger toppled with Rider Henry Little, who was painfully injured and rushed to a hospital.

Turns In 139 For 36 Holes Of Qualifying At Pittsburgh Course

PGA TOURNEY STARTS TODAY

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Writer

PITTSBURGH, May 26.—The fotunate 64 of an original field of 106 today set upon each other in match play in the P.G.A. championship at the Pittsburgh Field club, with every favorite as of Monday still in the running.

Heading the list by now was Byron Nelson, the tall Texan who is serving his first full year as pro, and who yesterday continued to blister the fairways to wind up with a low medal 68-71—139.

Not only did he take the Alex Smith Memorial trophy by three strokes, but he also took a four-stroke margin in the 11-man competition for four places on the Ryder cup team which will meet the British.

The 25-year-old pro came very near to matching the best qualifying rounds ever turned in for 36 holes of P.G.A. competition in going over par only one time through the 36 holes and knocking off the rest in par or better.

Pirates Lose To Brooklyn

Van Mungo Tames Bold Pirates In 2 To 1 Game At Forbes Field

YANKS-INDIANS START TO CLIMB

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, May 26. — With Mickey Cochrane in the hospital with a concussion of the brain, and out of the game indefinitely, Detroit pennant stock slumped far below par today and Yankee stock rose correspondingly.

One of Bump Hadley's fast breaking curves struck Mickey on the temple yesterday. It was not a bean ball for Hadley doesn't dust off the hitters. Mickey had hit a homer to start the Tigers off on the right foot in the third and Hadley was pitching carefully to him in the fifth when a fast curve broke too far inside and caught Mickey.

Blow To Tigers.

The accident is a terrific blow to the Tigers. Not only will they miss Mickey's great mechanical play but they will be without his inspirational leadership.

The pity of it is that Mickey said yesterday he felt the team was just beginning to click. Schoolboy Rowe was back in action, and while beaten 4-3 on homers by Lazzeri and DiMaggio, he showed all his old time speed and gave every indication that he is about ready to resume his winning ways.

Indians Win.

The Indians moved up within half a game of the Tigers by trimming the Mackmen, 4 to 2. Mel Harder held the ambitious Mackmen to seven hits.

Lefty Grove and Elon Hogsett put their aged portsides to work in a pitching duel and the Red Sox veteran outlasted the Brownie, 4-2. Hogsett gave only seven hits but poor support in the first inning led to three Red Sox runs and cost him a ball game.

Another ancient, Ted Lyons of the White Sox, let the Senators down with seven hits and breezed in, 9 to 2.

Pirates Defeated.

The Pirates received another setback when they dropped a 2 to 1 decision to the up and coming Dodgers. Van Mungo and Swift each gave six hits but the Dodger spread his to better advantage.

The Cubs, with Bill Lee operating, knocked off the Phils, 5-3, and the Giants finally found a southpaw they could beat and moved into second place ahead of the idle Cardinals by trouncing the Reds, 9-3.

The Giants made life easy for Gumbert by falling on Bill Hallahan for six runs in the first heat.

A. Z. A. SOFTBALL TEAM

The A. Z. A. softball team will play the Buccaneer Juniors Thursday night at 6:30 o'clock, it was announced by the manager. The following are to report at Washington High Field by Manager Ted Marlin—Sam Safier, Dave Lerner, Irv Liberman, Harvey Lewis, Shel Slovonsky, Herky Baltimore, Harry Moresky, Sherm Samuels, Milt Rogovin, Mervis and Mort Love. Latera Seeks Amateur Boxers

Hopes To Line Up Eight Good Matches For May 31 Card

WALKER SIGNS TO HELP REFEREE BOUTS

Bob Latera, promoter of the amateur boxing show which is scheduled for the Cathedral, May 31, has started a quest for fighters and within the next several days will have signed 16 punchers to participate in eight bouts. As added attractions Latera has engaged Jess Willard and Mickey Walker to referee four bouts each.

At the present writing Latera has not completed all his bouts. However, he reports he proposes to engage several boys from Beaver Falls and possibly Rich Gregory, a flashy lightweight from Butler. Latera will also use several Ellwood City scrappers, he stated.

Latera conferred with carpenters yesterday and made plans to place the ring in the middle of the Cathedral stage. He will surround three sides of the ring with ringside seats. It is believed that he will be able to arrange for at least 100 ringside seats.

Willard Is Visitor

He reported having received a telegram from Mickey Walker, former welterweight and middleweight champion stating that terms were satisfactory and that Walker would be on the job May 31. There is no question to the fact that Walker was one of the most colorful fighters the ring has had.

Willard has been here the past several days helping Latera to arrange details in connection with the show. It will be the fourth time Willard has acted as referee in this section. He first refereed here, then acted in that capacity at Pittsburgh and later was the ring's third man at Warren, O.

From now until the bell rings Monday night Latera will be kept busy. Although there may be some who believe arranging a boxing show is easy, such is far from from fact. It is difficult, especially when good matches are to be made and Bob is trying to line up the best boys he can secure.

COURTS TO OPEN

The horseshoe courts on Allen street will be opened next Monday. The lights have been installed and will be lit on Monday night for the opening of the out-door horseshoe pitching season. The Allen street team will meet all comers, according to Mr. Johnston.

Cochrane Has Skull Fracture

Detroit Manager Is "Beaned" By Hadley In Game At Yankee Stadium

CONDITION IS QUITE SERIOUS

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, May 26.—Gordon Stanley Cochrane, known as Mickey, was in a serious condition in St. Elizabeth's hospital today with a fracture of the skull, resulting from being struck on the right temple yesterday by a ball thrown by Irving (Bump) Hadley, pitcher of the New York Yankees. Cochrane, prostrated by the blow, was rushed to the hospital immediately and this morning had failed to respond to treatment.

"His condition remains unchanged," the hospital announced early this morning. "He has shown no improvement during the night and his state remains critical. No change is expected within the next twenty-four hours."

Pictures Taker

X-ray pictures were taken this morning, but failed to furnish any reassuring data, according to Dr. Robert Emmett Walsh, in charge of the case. Cochrane's wife, Mary, arrived at Newark airport at 2 a. m. from Detroit and spent the rest of the night at Cochrane's bed side.

So serious was his condition, in fact, that the entire American League pennant race was overshadowed by the accident.

Cochrane was laid low by a high, fast ball on the inside in the fifth inning with the count three and two at the Yankee Stadium yesterday. He tried to get away, but appeared to dodge into the path of the ball. His injury not only may mean the end of the career of the player-manager of the Detroit Tigers, but will seriously affect the latter's pennant chances.

NEW YORK, May 25.—Here and there the ball players have staged free-for-all battles this year . . . but how does it happen that a ball player never comes up with a black eye? . . . and why is it no one ever gets bashed with a bat? . . . I think the answer lies in the ball player's hip pocket . . . his wallet . . . a ball player hates to pay a fine, and if there were fewer financial penalties, there would be more bloodshed . . . and probably an umpire or two slain now and then . . . You probably remember when Bill Dickey, Yankee catcher, took a full round-trip haymaker at Carl Reynolds, outfielder, and fractured his jaw? . . . that cost Dickey $1,000 and six weeks in the cooler . . . and most ball players are very conservative spenders.

Colonel Bradley says his Brooklyn will beat both War Admiral and Pompoon before the year is ended . . . either in the Belmont stakes, June 5, or the Saratoga cup in August . . . it seems Brooklyn was nervous and ill before the Derby . . . Colonel Bradley had better not let Brooklyn read about the time that War Admiral recorded at Louisville and Baltimore, or Brooklyn may become just a bit nervous again . . . Burial services were held in Chicago the other day for Mr. and Mrs. C. K. G. Billings . . . the former great horseman died a few days before Mrs. Billings, in California . . . Billings years ago paid $35,000 for the great gelding Uhlan and broke troting records by the dozen . . . lowering Lou Dillon's mile mark from 2:00 to 1:58 . . . he drove Uhlan a mile to wagon in 2:00, and a half mile in 56.25 seconds.

Nathan Mann, a heavyweight from New Haven, Conn., may be the new white hope . . . his victory over 215-pound Eddie Blunt, Carolina Negro, was a convincing show . . . Mann's real name, by the way, is Nat Menchetti . . . Jack Doyle is offering Joe Louis at 3 to 5, and Jimmy Braddock at 2 to 1 . . . The Broadway bookmaker is a bit nervous about Sam Snead in the national open championship . . . but he still has him listed at 15 to 1 . . . which doesn't appear to be a bad spot for a guy with two bucks to do a bit of investing . . . Purses in excess of $5,000,000 will be distributed at some 900 race track meetings this year.

The way racing is catching on in the eastern states outside New York is tremendous . . . and six years ago New England was trackless They called Lou Smith crazy when he decided to open Rockingham park in 1931 . . . told him New Englanders wouldn't pay to get into a track, and if they were admitted free they wouldn't bet . . . but Lou went ahead . . . and on the second day of his meeting, the law swooped down and stopped the betting . . . which cost Smith about $180,000 but the attendance while the track was open convinced Smith that New England wanted racing and would pay for it . . . he worked for legalized wagering, and got it in 1933 . . . last year the total money wagered at Rockingham, Narragansett, Agawam and Suffolk was around $66,000,000.

The story of Rockingham goes back to 1906, Frank Menke tells us, when John W. (Bet a Million) Gates decided to build a track that would rival Saratoga . . . W. C. Whitney, father of the late Harry Payne Whitney, joined him in the enterprise, along with Andrew Miller and R. T. Wilson . . . they opened what was scheduled to be a 30-day meeting, with bookies on the lawn . . . on the second day five wagonloads of state police stopped the meeting . . . they abandoned it.

NEW YORK, May 26.—Tommy Loughran has gone into the cafe business in Philadelphia . . . one of his business rivals is Lew Tendler, who came within a whisker of winning the world's lightweight title from Benny Leonard . . . that makes 11,876 ex-cauliflowers now peddling liquid refreshment . . . Jack Dempsey is taking time off from his restaurant business to try to match Pedro Montanez and Lou Ambers for the lightweight championship at Ebbets Field this summer . . . Mike Jacobs controls boxing at the Polo Grounds.

Some of the hitters in the American League are saying Tommy Bridges hasn't got it any more . . . they mean that fast one he used to call upon in a pinch . . . but he is winning a few games by the same method Wesley Ferrell has been following for two years—not giving the batters good ones to hit. . . . During the free-for-all at St. Louis between the Giants and Cardinals, Carl Hubbell stood aside enjoying the fun . . . and taking care no one came up behind him to let a sucker punch. . . . Lynn Nelson, pitcher Connie Mack picked up on his way through Memphis in spring, is a former boxer. . . . Tommy Henrich, elevated to the position of left fielder for the Yanks this year, is a former steel mill clerk in Massillon, O. Gilbert Brack, who is starring for the Dodgers, formerly toiled in a bat factory in Louisville, Ky. . . . Clyde Castleman, Giants' pitcher, is a former dairyman. . . . Lyn Lary is a former stenographer, and can still make the keys fly.

Wayne Sabin, youngster from the Pacific coast, is one of the Davis cuppers of the future . . . he has been working out with the United States team at Forest Hills. . . . Wayne is an ex-Iowan, whose family moved to Portland, Ore., when he was 12 years old. . . . Wayne was hot in the south last winter, whipping Bitsy Grant, among others.

This Mysterious Montague guy is coming to New York to play golf, according to Tommy Tailer, young socialite golfer and former Metropolitan amateur champion . . . Montague is the exclusive Hollywood gent who has been hailed as the greatest golfer ever to walk a green, an almost mythical person whose private feats on the fairways belie reality. . . . Montague is slated to appear, the tip is, at exclusive Meadow Brook club, Westbury, Long Island, some time after the middle of June. . . . Matches are being cooked up for the Los Angeles mystery man.

Mysterious Montague has become almost a legend . . . he bet he could drive a golf ball three-quarters of a mile in five shots and won easily . . . he bet Bing Crosby he could beat him using a shovel, ball bat and rake, and did it. . . . He has been called a combination of Paul Bunyan, Popeye the Sailor, Brick Bradford, and Ivan Petrovsky Skovar. . . . He can score in the 60's whenever he wants to . . . he made a 61 at Palm Springs, Cal. . . . he scored 66 to beat George Von Elm . . . he is built like a wrestler, is about 35 years old, is powerfully muscled, and has huge hands . . . Johnny Bulla, young Chicago professional, reports having played nine holes with the 220-pound giant of the links . . . Bulla says Montague hits his drives 280 and 290 yards . . . all straight . . . and he saw him hit a ball 240 yards with a No. 1 iron . . . with a No. 5 iron, Montague hit targets 175 yards away, making the ball fade 10 or 12 yards . . . he repeated the operation with hooked shots . . . and put beautiful backspin ranging from six to eight yards on long approaches with a No. 5 iron, shooting to a fast green. . . . Montague is reported to derive a comfortable income from silver or gold mines in the west.

LUCKY HUSBAND

She was a big, strong woman, and the burglar she had tackled bore unmistaking signs of punishment as the police arrived.

"It was very brave of you, lady," said the justice of the peace, "to set upon the burglar and capture him, but you did not need to blacken both his eyes, and knock out all his teeth."

The woman looked indignant.

"How was I to know it was a burglar?" she asked. "I'd been waiting up for my husband for three hours, and in the dark I thought it was him."

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL.

Well it's all over and the band is a little nearer to their uniforms . . . thanks to you folks . . . that was a wonderful turnout . . . all the credit goes to the sshool teachers that made the program possible . . . they really worked hard . . . again I thank you each and everyone.

• • •

Come on now and voice your opinion on the Parking Meters . . . we know that you have something to say about the proposed plan . . . you may be for the idea or you may be one that is against it . . . now is your chance to give forth . . . what do you say?

• • •

The golf season is getting underway in full force . . . that is all you hear . . . at every street corner and every lunch counter . . . "took two more off the score last night" . . . there is one thing missing in the golf set-up . . . that one thing is an official scorekeeper . . . it seems to me that some of these good scores would not be so good if every golfer had an official scorekeeper . . . we know some boys that play one night and have a fine score and the next night when they play in a match the score jumps to unbelievable heights . . . we realize that some people blow up in a match but we also know that this is not true one hundred percent . . . we suggest a scorekeeper for every golfer.

A certain well known merchant in town has been having quite a time explaining a bad cut on the mouth . . . in case you are interested you might ask DeLace Cole what hit him . . . if you find out please let us know . . . we have been hearing several stories . . . come clean Mr. Cole.

• • •

We have a couple of marriages to announce . . . just when we can't say . . . there has been plenty of romancing going on the past three months.

• • •

An old school chum of mine has been acting a little queer the past few weeks . . . me thinks she is married . . . of course my word this time is just a thought . . . we are thinking about Miss Becky Carson . . . the class of '34.

Market Trend Narrow Today

Light Realizing Takes Edge Off Of Earlier Irregular Rise In Market

By LESLIE GOULD

NEW YORK, May 26.—The stock market settled into a narrow meaningless trend today, light realizing taking the edge of an earlier irregular rise.

U. S. Steel common stock was independently strong, holding about a point above its previous close. Big steel preferred, though, showed little change. Other steels were inclined to slightly lower levels, including Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet & Tube and Republic.

Copper shares were in fair demand, although gains running to more than a point in Anaconda and American Smelting were about cut in half. Phelps-Dodge was behind a small minus sign.

Profit taking turned the rail group irregular after gains of more than a point had been scored under the lead of Southern Pacific. Atchison sustained a loss of a point, while Great Northern pfd., and N. Y. Central eased fractionally.

Chrysler moved up modestly, as General Motors dipped under its previous close. Oils pointed irregularly higher.

Bonds were highly irregular, with governments somewhat easier. Grains were erratic, while cotton gained a little ground.

Amendments To Social Security Law Suggested

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 26.—The Social Security board moved today for amendments to the law in congress this session following the sweeping supreme court decisions upholding the old-age annuity and unemployment insurance tax provisions.

A series of amendments, described as chiefly administrative, were sent to the Senate Finance and House Ways and Means committees by the Social Security board.

The House Ways and Means committee, said Chairman Doughton (D), North Carolina, probably will be called into session next week to consider the amendments.

"I am highly gratified that the supreme court has upheld the law which was reported by our committee," said Doughton. "We have suggestions for amendments before us, which will be given consideration."

The court rulings were expected to spur a fight to revise the vast security program to eliminate the future $47,000,000,000 old-age reserve fund and to broaden the act.

Under the security law, agricultural workers, domestics, and casual workers, totalling several millions, are exempt.

The security board is known to be studying the question of extending the system, which now covers 18,000,000 workers for unemployment insurance and 27,000,000 for old-age annuities, to all workers in the nation.

Health insurance, another subject investigated by the presidential commission which recommended the security act also, also may be urged in congress.

Al Smith Has Reached Rome

(International News Service)

ROME, May 26.—Alfred E. Smith arrived in Rome for his first visit Tuesday and went immediately to St. Peter's Cathedral.

He kneeled to kiss the well-worn foot of St. Peter's statue. Mrs. Smith did not follow his example but laid a wreath of red roses on the shrine.

"Al" was amazed at the size of the church.

"Why, it's as big as three and a half city blocks," he said. "That means you could put three apartments and a drug-store in it."

Smith is expected to visit Castel Gandolfo today for an audience with Pope Pius.
